Dulles Flies To Paris Talks

Stern Omen Is Seen In USSR Stand

Warn West Against Reinforcing Berlin Troops, Using Force

MOSCOW (AP)—Neutral diplomats Friday interpreted the latest Soviet statement on the German situation as a stern warning to the Western powers against trying to reinforce their garrisons in West Berlin.

"I do not recall having read any stronger one in my time here of what will happen if Western powers attempt to break into Berlin by force," said one veteran diplomat.

He was referring to the official Tass news agency declaration that any Western use of force to maintain access to Berlin would be met by Soviet force.

Tough Policy

Most diplomats called the Soviet statement another example of the Kremlin's tough policy, backed by political and industrial successes, of the past few months.

These sources found the Soviet government equally determined to keep the subject of German unification separate from its proposal to make West Berlin a disarmed free city.

"It sounds, when reading the statement, like the Kremlin and the Western powers are talking at completely opposite ends," said one ambassador. The Western powers want to discuss Berlin within the framework of German reunification. The Soviet Union shouts an emphatic 'no' to that suggestion, saying there can be no top-level meeting to discuss unification.

"In the face of that situation, anything can happen when the Kremlin carries out its threat—which I believe it will—to transfer its occupation powers to the East German regime next May."

Envoys Pessimistic

Neutral envoys said they were pessimistic about the possibility of bringing the sharply and bitterly opposing viewpoints of the West and the Soviet Union together on West Berlin before the end of the six-month deadline set by Premier Nikita Khrushchev last month.

"It looks more and more like we are heading for a new crisis in Europe," said one. "If the Soviet Union turns over its occupation powers to East Germany, and if thereafter the East Germans attempt to control or curtail the corridors between West Germany and West Berlin anything can happen.'

The Western powers—the United States, Britain and France—refuse to recognize the Communist government of East Germany.

Former Pope's Doctor Barred

By The Associated Press

ROME (AP)—The personal physician to Pope Pius XII Friday night was barred from practicing medicine in Italy because he wrote and sold articles on the Pope's dying hours.

Many Italians were outraged by the articles.

The decision was rendered by the council of the Rome Medical Assn. against Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi on a question of professional ethics.

The doctor, 67, had resigned previously as medical chief of Vatican City.

The doctor witnessed and ministered to the Pope's fatal strokes and death agonies in the papal summer palace at Castel Gandolfo.

He has said his conscience is clear and he felt he had not breached ethics by his disclosures in the newspaper articles.

Pope Pius died Oct. 9 and has been succeeded by Pope John XXIII, who brought in a new medical establishment for himself and Vatican City.

The council's order of explusion from membership, meaning Galeazzi-Lisi can no longer practice in Italy, was the severest action it could take.

West Stiffens Berlin Resolve After Red Blast

BONN, Germany (AP)—The latest Soviet blast at Berlin stiffened Western resolution Friday to stand firm in the divided old German capital, come what may.

The two key West German figures in the crisis, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, got together in Bonn and adjusted their differences. They agreed on a common stand at a foreign minister's meeting in Paris Sunday.

The West German Foreign Office said the new rough talk from the Kremlin was an attempt to sow fear and divide the Allies ahead of the NATO conference in Paris next week.

The Foreign Office said Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's remarks to a Munich newspaper exceeded diplomatic limits. Khrushchev said an Allied attempt to keep supply lines open to Berlin by force would be met by Soviet force.

In Paris, the Foreign Office said Thursday's Tass agency statement on West Berlin also was aimed at affecting the NATO meeting. Tass accused the Western Allies of refusing to negotiate on the Soviet proposal to make West Berlin an unarmed free city.

Both the French Foreign Office and British sources in London said Moscow was merely repeating what had been said in the original note on Nov. 27 announcing the Soviet Union would junk the four-power occupation agreement on Berlin.

West Berlin newspapers played up Washington's declaration of U. S. determination to stay in Berlin under such headlines as "We Will Not Be Threatened."

A sobering note, however, came from West Germany's ambassador to Washington, Wilhelm Grewe. He said he believed the Soviet Union might once again try to impose a total blockade of the West's sector of Berlin. Grewe told the National Press Club the West faces a dangerous situation even though Russia probably does not intend to start a major war over Berlin.

Leukemia Victim, 6, Has Holiday Wish Come True

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — Bobby Nixon, 6, is living every boy's dream of Christmas.

It has started early for him, and will last as long as his memory can hold the images of the real and fancied people who flood this season of the year with warmth and new hope.

More than that, Bobby has had his first plane ride. He has had his own special parade. And a train meant to be for him alone will take him on the last stage of his journey through a wonderland.

But this is no tale spun for cozy reading at the fireside or in the nursery. If Bobby Nixon knew why all this is coming to pass he would gladly do without dreams come true. Bobby has leukemia, the blood disease for which the doctors hope one day to find a cure.

Bobby arrived Thursday night from Grand Rapids, Mich., with his parents, Gerald and Margaret Nixon. They traveled on one of an airlines' best, thanks to the American Legion.

As they left the plane drums rolled and bugles blared. A corps of legionnaires provided that reception. A post commander, as earnestly as if he were doing honor to a field marshal, ceremoniously set a special legion cap on the boy's head. Quickly the boy dabbed at wisps of blond unruly hair, tucking them under the cap. He was so proud and looking so deep into his dream that he didn't see the tears in the eyes of some of the legionnaires, of the plane stewardesses, of his mother and father.

The legion took the boy and his parents in festively decked out cars to a midcity motel. A police escort of motorcycles cleared the way. The family will stay there until Sunday, then go to Cherry Hill Estates in Caden County, N.J. across the Delaware River for the Christmas celebration the doctors have advised. It will be in the home of Richard and Bertie Kenny, Bobby's uncle and aunt.

That is where the big train ride comes in. The legion's light-hearted alter ego, the 40 and 8, is providing one of its trains so well-known to the public now.

"And Bobby will be riding right in the locomotive, God bless him," said the legion man who will be the engineer.

UN Condemns Suppression Of Hungary

Communist Nations Ignore Action; Hot Debate Before Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly condemned the Soviet Union and Hungary anew Friday for repressing the people of Hungary. The two Communist nations said they would ignore the action—just as they have done in the past.

By a vote of 54-10 with 15 abstentions the Assembly adopted a resolution sponsored by the United States and 36 other nations that also denounced the executions last June of former Premier Imre Nagy, Gen. Pal Maleteer "and "other Hungarian patriots."

Joins Soviet Bloc

Yugoslavia joined the nine regular Soviet-bloc nations in opposing the resolution. The abstainers—the nations that refused to commit themselves—were India, Indonesia Afghanistan, Ceylon, Ethiopia, Ghana, Libya, Morocco, United Arab Republic, Sudan, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Lebanon, Finland, and Greece. Israel and Yemen were absent.

Heated debate preceded the vote in the 81-nation Assembly as it drove toward adjournment. The only other major controversial issue still under debate was Algeria.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told a reporter the Assembly vote on Hungary was very impressive.

"Once again the General Assembly has shown its revulsion at the dreadful crimes committed in Hungary," he said.

But Soviet Dep. Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin charged at a news conference the United States brought up the issue only to intensify the cold war.

Won't Heed Resolution

In the Assembly, Zorin and Janos Peter, the Hungarian deputy foreign minister, said they would not heed the resolution—the 10th on Hungary since the anti-Communist revolt was first brought before the U.N. at an emergency session in November 1956.

The resolution named Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, former Assembly president, as a U. N. watchdog to keep an eye on developments in Hungary.

But Hungary served notice it would not enter into consultations with him on U.N. resolutions stemming from the revolt. Moscow took the same attitude.

Airplane Exhaust Hits In Street

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—A 20-pound piece of metal identified as an exhaust stack from a large airplane plummeted down on a Michigan City street Friday.

Richard Scott said he was shoveling snow in front of his house when he heard a "whoosh" and the drone of plane engines overhead. Seconds later, the exhaust lit in the street about 50 feet away.

Judge Lifts Strike Ban For Pilot Group

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge Friday in effect gave the Air Line Pilots Assn. permission to strike against American Airlines.

Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan did this by lifting a temporary injunction the airline had obtained that banned a pilot strike. At the same time Bryan denied the airline a permanent injunction.

There was no indication that the pilots would strike immediately against American, which is the nation's largest airline in passenger miles flown annually.

Bryan ruled that the pilots had bargained in good faith during involved negotiations that began more than a year ago.

At the same time, the judge refused a request by the ALPA to dismiss an unusual damage suit by the airline. The company is seeking $540,000 in damages from the union, which it claims it suffered as a result of the pilots' strike threats.

At present Eastern Air Lines is the only major airline shut down by a strike which began Nov. 24. Both the International Machinists Union and the Flight Engineers Union are striking against Eastern, but the Machinists said Friday it has reached agreement in principle with the company on some issues.

Asked whether Bryan's ruling meant the pilots would strike, association lawyer Samuel J Cohen said "It means they could strike, but what they will do I can't say now as I don't think they know yet what has happened here."

The dispute between American and APLA, involving rates of pay, rules and working conditions for some 1,500 pilots, has been unresolved since expiration of a work contract in August 1957. The spokesman said he was not posted on progress of the current negotiations.

UN Committee Defeats Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Credentials committee defeated an attempt by the Soviet Union Friday to raise the question of Chinese representation.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev moved that the credentials of the Nationalist Chinese delegation be invalidated. But the committee, by a 6-1 vote with 2 abstentions (Nepal and Tunisia), upheld the ruling of Dr. Constantino Ramos of Argentina, newlh elected chairman, that Sobolvev's motion was out of order.

Seamen Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Italian seamen were on strike when the liner Cristoforo Colombo sailed and she arrived Friday without a single Italian chestnut. Normally the liner carries about 10 tons of nuts at this time of year.

Snow, Cold Close Schools, Beaches

United Press International

Record snow and cold closed schools and office buildings and drove tourists from the beaches in the southland Friday.

A new snow storm was cutting across the Plains from the Rockies to Ohio and there was no end in sight to the nation's week-long siege of wintry weather.

Cold belt residents could take little comfort in the fact that winter was still 10 days away, according to the calendar. Heavy snow warnings were up in the Plains states, Miami's beaches were deserted, schools closed down in Cleveland suburbs, and Oswego, N.Y., was still battling to dig out of 6½ foot snows.

The marathon weather onslaught was also taking a rising toll of lives. Within the week, at least 61 deaths had been blamed on cold-sparked fires, traffic accidents on slick highways, exposure and exhaustion.

Home fires and deadly fumes from overtaxed furnaces had killed 12 persons in Ohio, five in Virginia, four in Illinois, two each in Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota and one in Nebraska.

The South was the latest area to feel the weather's whiplash. Snow lay 18 inches deep at Fayetteville, N.C., Greensboro, N.C., awoke in record-breaking one above zero weather, and the mercury dropped 26 degrees, from 80 to 54, in 24 hours at Miami.

The same storm brought bitter cold to the Northeast, but failed to add to the woes of Oswego, a snow-battered city of 23,000 on the eastern shore of Lake Ontario.

For the first time in five days Oswego residents were able to wake up and find that it was not snowing. And, for the first time in five days, the town's main street showed up through the snow.

The city was still in a state of emergency, however, and unauthorized persons were still ordered off the streets.

To the West, it was northeast Ohio's turn to weather the snow. Snows up to 10 inches deep swirled over the area just as weathermen were beginning to hope the cold wave was ending. Drivers could not see through the whirling snow and schools in five Cleveland suburbs closed because school buses couldn't get through.

The Ohio snows were the vanguard of a storm racing across the prairies from the central Rockies.

Purdue Receives Gift Of 300 Mice

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue University Friday received a housewife's nightmare for a gift—300 live, squeaking mice.

But these are special mice, highly prized for genetics research. They came from Mrs. E. Paralee Prentice of Williamstown, Mass., owner of a Mount Hope farm.

Population Hike

MOSCOW (UPI) — The official Tass news agency said Friday the population of the Soviet Union was increasing at the rate of almost 10,000 persons a day.

Pastor Guilty On Tax Charge

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin Friday was convicted of failure to answer the summons of a federal income tax agent. His U.S. District Court jury deliberated only 19 minutes.

Judge John H. Druffel sentenced the Rev. Mr. McCrackin to six months in federal prison, and a $250 fine.

The pastor of Cincinnati's white-Negro St. Barnabas Presbyterian and Episcopal church sat mute throughout the one-day trial.

He broke his silence only after his conviction with the statement:

"There is one thing I'd like to say. It is my earnest prayer that the government will stop its war preparations and honor the consciences of those who would stop these evils."

When he told Judge Druffel, "I cannot stand" to receive the sentence, the judge launched into a scathing attack upon the minister and those of like mind.

He attacked the Rev. Mr. McCrackin's "pious attitude" as "more or less of a false face."

The judge called the minister a "pacifist agitator" and accused him of associating "with those with overwhelming Soviet sympathies."

"I don't know any more pious way to be a traitor than that," the judge added.

Child Bride Gets Five Years For Auto Theft

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Child bride Betty Jean Oriss Storberg, a veteran at crime at the age of 14, has been sentenced to five years in a federal prison.

U.S. District Judge William J. Barker handed down the sentence after the pretty youngster, who looks older than her years, pleaded guilty Wednesday to interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle.

Betty Jean, who was married at the age of 12 to convicted murderer David Storberg, was charged along with her husband in connection with a crime spree here last October. Federal officers said they are also wanted for robberies in several other states.

The girl's attorney asked Judge Barker to consider other charges against her when handing down the sentence. He said she did not want to have to travel from place to place to face other trials.

Betty Jean and her husband were captured in Pocatello, Idaho, during a robbery attempt last month. Betty Jean was returned here, but Storberg was held at Pocatello where he admitted slaying an Indian four years ago.

At nearby St. Petersburg, police charged the couple with armed robbery of a liquor store. The county patrol there charged them with assault with a deadly weapon and accused them of firing shots at a patrolman after a gas station holdup.

Case Predicts Ike To Ask New Racial Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clifford Case (R-NJ) predicted at the White House Friday that President Eisenhower will ask Congress to pass new legislation dealing with racial integration.

Case, who had been especially interested in enforcing court-ordered integration of Negro and white pupils in the public schools of the South, spoke after a conference with Eisenhower.

The senator said government lawyers are working hard on drafts of civil rights legislation. He described the President as "deeply in sympathy with efforts the Department of Justice is making to come up with something."

Case and Eisenhower have been close since the 1954 senatorial campaign in New Jersey when the President rejected demands from some Republicans in the state to use his influence to have Case removed from the race.

Also, in 1957 Case applauded Eisenhower's sending of troops to Little Rock, Ark., to enforce court orders for integration of Central High School there.

Whatever new civil rights legislation the administration settles on probably will be outlined in Eisenhower's State of the Union message to Congress next month.

Case told reporters that Eisenhower listened to what the senator suggested in this field and showed a deep interest, but made no commitments.

The senator said he himself would like to see a law passed to permit the federal government to get court injunctions to enforce integration rulings without the restrictions laid down by Congress in the 1957 civil rights law.

Case also said he is interested in giving the federal government authority it does not now have to intervene, under some circumstances, in investigations and possibly legal action in such things as bombings of schools and places or worship.

On other matters, Case said he talked with Eisenhower about legislation in the fields of immigration, unemployment compensation, education, health, and slum removal.

Confers With Ike On Tense Berlin Crisis

Secretary Accuses Soviet Of Disregard Of Pledged Word

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles conferred with President Eisenhower Friday and then left for important Paris talks, accusing Russia's leaders of "contemptuous disregard . . . of their pledged word."

The 70-year-old secretary took off for Western conferences on the touchy Berlin situation a few hours after leaving the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center.

He pronounced himself fit and rested after a week-long bout with diverticulitis, inflammation of the lower intestine. Doctors said there was no sign of any recurrence of the intestinal cancer for which Dulles underwent surgery in 1956.

Secretary Feels Fine

"I feel fine," the secretary said with emphasis. "I feel a whole lot better than I felt when I left here a couple of years ago."

From Walter Reed he went home briefly, then talked with Eisenhower at the White House for an hour. He left almost immediately thereafter aboard the four-engined presidential plane Columbine III for Atlantic Pact—NATO—meetings in Paris.

At the White House, Dulles read a 400-word statement approved by Eisenhower. It dealt with Russia's demands that Allied troops be pulled out of West Berlin despite Big Four agreements to maintain military supervision pending a German peace treaty.

"A discouraging aspect of the international scene is the contemptuous disregard by the Soviet rulers of their pledged word," Dulles said.

"The Soviet rulers, in relation to Berlin, seek to repudiate a whole series of our agreements. They seem to feel at liberty to denounce at their pleasure any agreements which they have made as soon as they feel these agreements no longer serve their purposes."

Hardly A Foundation

Dulles said this was hardly a foundation upon which to build world order. Nevertheless, he called for Western unity, calm determination to stand firm in Berlin, and scrupulous observance of the West's promises.

"These are the ends which NATO serves, and because of that I go to these meetings with confidence," he said.

Dulles said he will study the Soviet gambit in talks at Paris Sunday with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany. He said he also expects to talk with French Premier Charles de Gaulle.

Junket Outlay Hits Half Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Traveling congressmen spent nearly a half million dollars worth of government-owned foreign currencies in their junkets through foreign lands last year.

The outlays hit a new high because of tours by House members to Paris, Hong Kong and points between. Perhaps half of the legislators journeyed abroad. The exact number has never been officially disclosed.

The House members used up $356,493.11 in foreign moneys, nearly three times the $122,062.06 reported the previous year.

Senators spent $131,791.96, a drop from the $169,185 of the year before. The total $488,285.07 for fiscal 1958—the year ended—was reported Friday by the House Administration and Senate Appropriations committees.

Red Guns Bomb Quemoy Heavily

TAIPEI (AP)—Communist guns which Thursday subjected the Quemoy Islands to the heaviest bombardment in more than five weeks were silent Friday.

It was part of the stop-go war in which the Reds abstain from shelling the complex on even-numbered days. It was also the almost inevitable forerunner to fresh artillery attacks Saturday, an odd-numbered day.

Ike Pledges Aid For Latin America

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday pledged the United States' "warmheated cooperation" in economic development of Latin America.

The assurance was given in a message to the closing session of an inter-American conference on economic development.

Heated debate preceded the vote in the 81-nation Assembly as it drove toward adjournment. The only other major controversial issue still under debate was Algeria.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told a reporter the Assembly vote on Hungary was very impressive.

"Once again the General Assembly has shown its revulsion at the dreadful crimes committed in Hungary," he said.

But Soviet Dep. Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin charged at a news conference the United States brought up the issue only to intensify the cold war.

Won't Heed Resolution

In the Assembly, Zorin and Janos Peter, the Hungarian deputy foreign minister, said they would not heed the resolution—the 10th on Hungary since the anti-Communist revolt was first brought before the U.N. at an emergency session in November 1956.

The resolution named Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, former Assembly president, as a U. N. watchdog to keep an eye on developments in Hungary.

But Hungary served notice it would not enter into consultations with him on U.N. resolutions stemming from the revolt. Moscow took the same attitude.

Airplane Exhaust Hits In Street

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—A 20-pound piece of metal identified as an exhaust stack from a large airplane plummeted down on a Michigan City street Friday.

Richard Scott said he was shoveling snow in front of his house when he heard a "whoosh" and the drone of plane engines overhead. Seconds later, the exhaust stack hit in the street about 50 feet away.

Judge Lifts Strike Ban For Pilot Group

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge Friday in effect gave the Air Line Pilots Assn. permission to strike against American Airlines.

Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan did this by lifting a temporary injunction the airline had obtained that banned a pilot strike. At the same time Bryan denied the airline a permanent injunction.

There was no indication that the pilots would strike immediately against American, which is the nation's largest airline in passenger miles flown annually.

Bryan ruled that the pilots had bargained in good faith during involved negotiations that began more than a year ago.

At the same time, the judge refused a request by the ALPA to dismiss an unusual damage suit by the airline. The company is seeking $540,000 in damages from the union, which it claims it suffered as a result of the pilots' strike threats.

At present Eastern Air Lines is the only major airline shut down by a strike which began Nov. 24. Both the International Machinists Union and the Flight Engineers Union are striking against Eastern, but the Machinists said Friday it has reached agreement in principle with the company on some issues.

Asked whether Bryan's ruling meant the pilots would strike, association lawyer Samuel J Cohen said "It means they could strike, but what they will do I can't say now as I don't think they know yet what has happened here."

The dispute between American and APLA, involving rates of pay, rules and working conditions for some 1,500 pilots, has been unresolved since expiration of a work contract in August 1957. The spokesman said he was not posted on progress of the current negotiations.

UN Committee Defeats Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Credentials committee defeated an attempt by the Soviet Union Friday to raise the question of Chinese representation.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev moved that the credentials of the Nationalist Chinese delegation be invalidated. But the committee, by a 6-1 vote with 2 abstentions (Nepal and Tunisia), upheld the ruling of Dr. Constantino Ramos of Argentina, newlh elected chairman, that Sobolvev's motion was out of order.

Seamen Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Italian seamen were on strike when the liner Cristoforo Colombo sailed and she arrived Friday without a single Italian chestnut. Normally the liner carries about 10 tons of nuts at this time of year.

Snow, Cold Close Schools, Beaches

United Press International

Record snow and cold closed schools and office buildings and drove tourists from the beaches in the southland Friday.

A new snow storm was cutting across the Plains from the Rockies to Ohio and there was no end in sight to the nation's week-long siege of wintry weather.

Cold belt residents could take little comfort in the fact that winter was still 10 days away, according to the calendar. Heavy snow warnings were up in the Plains states, Miami's beaches were deserted, schools closed down in Cleveland suburbs, and Oswego, N.Y., was still battling to dig out of 6½ foot snows.

The marathon weather onslaught was also taking a rising toll of lives. Within the week, at least 61 deaths had been blamed on cold-sparked fires, traffic accidents on slick highways, exposure and exhaustion.

Home fires and deadly fumes from overtaxed furnaces had killed 12 persons in Ohio, five in Virginia, four in Illinois, two each in Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota and one in Nebraska.

The South was the latest area to feel the weather's whiplash. Snow lay 18 inches deep at Fayetteville, N.C., Greensboro, N.C., awoke in record-breaking one above zero weather, and the mercury dropped 26 degrees, from 80 to 54, in 24 hours at Miami.

The same storm brought bitter cold to the Northeast, but failed to add to the woes of Oswego, a snow-battered city of 23,000 on the eastern shore of Lake Ontario.

For the first time in five days Oswego residents were able to wake up and find that it was not snowing. And, for the first time in five days, the town's main street showed up through the snow.

The city was still in a state of emergency, however, and unauthorized persons were still ordered off the streets.

To the West, it was northeast Ohio's turn to weather the snow. Snows up to 10 inches deep swirled over the area just as weathermen were beginning to hope the cold wave was ending. Drivers could not see through the whirling snow and schools in five Cleveland suburbs closed because school buses couldn't get through.

Purdue Receives Gift Of 300 Mice

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue University Friday received a housewife's nightmare for a gift—300 live, squeaking mice.

But these are special mice, highly prized for genetics research. They came from Mrs. E. Paralee Prentice of Williamstown, Mass., owner of a Mount Hope farm.

Population Hike

MOSCOW (UPI) — The official Tass news agency said Friday the population of the Soviet Union was increasing at the rate of almost 10,000 persons a day.

Pastor Guilty On Tax Charge

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Rev. Maurice F. McCrackin Friday was convicted of failure to answer the summons of a federal income tax agent. His U.S. District Court jury deliberated only 19 minutes.

Judge John H. Druffel sentenced the Rev. Mr. McCrackin to six months in federal prison, and a $250 fine.

The pastor of Cincinnati's white-Negro St. Barnabas Presbyterian and Episcopal church sat mute throughout the one-day trial.

He broke his silence only after his conviction with the statement:

"There is one thing I'd like to say. It is my earnest prayer that the government will stop its war preparations and honor the consciences of those who would stop these evils."

When he told Judge Druffel, "I cannot stand" to receive the sentence, the judge launched into a scathing attack upon the minister and those of like mind.

He attacked the Rev. Mr. McCrackin's "pious attitude" as "more or less of a false face."

The judge called the minister a "pacifist agitator" and accused him of associating "with those with overwhelming Soviet sympathies."

"I don't know any more pious way to be a traitor than that," the judge added.

Child Bride Gets Five Years For Auto Theft

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Child bride Betty Jean Oriss Storberg, a veteran at crime at the age of 14, has been sentenced to five years in a federal prison.

U.S. District Judge William J. Barker handed down the sentence after the pretty youngster, who looks older than her years, pleaded guilty Wednesday to interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle.8

Betty Jean, who was married at the age of 12 to convicted murderer David Storberg, was charged along with her husband in connection with a crime spree here last October. Federal officers said they are also wanted for robberies in several other states.

The girl's attorney asked Judge Barker to consider other charges against her when handing down the sentence. He said she did not want to have to travel from place to place to face other trials.

Betty Jean and her husband were captured in Pocatello, Idaho, during a robbery attempt last month. Betty Jean was returned here, but Storberg was held at Pocatello where he admitted slaying an Indian four years ago.

At nearby St. Petersburg, police charged the couple with armed robbery of a liquor store. The county patrol there charged them with assault with a deadly weapon and accused them of firing shots at a patrolman after a gas station holdup.

Case Predicts Ike To Ask New Racial Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Clifford Case (R-NJ) predicted at the White House Friday that President Eisenhower will ask Congress to pass new legislation dealing with racial integration.

Case, who has been especially interested in enforcing court-ordered integration of Negro and white pupils in the public schools of the South, spoke after a conference with Eisenhower.

The senator said government lawyers are working hard on drafts of civil rights legislation. He described the President as "deeply in sympathy with efforts the Department of Justice is making to come up with something."

Case and Eisenhower have been close since the 1954 senatorial campaign in New Jersey when the President rejected demands from some Republicans in the state to use his influence to have Case removed from the race.

Also, in 1957 Case applauded Eisenhower's sending of troops to Little Rock, Ark., to enforce court orders for integration of Central High School there.

Whatever new civil rights legislation the administration settles on probably will be outlined in Eisenhower's State of the Union message to Congress next month.

Case told reporters that Eisenhower listened to what the senator suggested in this field and showed a deep interest, but made no commitments.

The senator said he himself would like to see a law passed to permit the federal government to get court injunctions to enforce integration rulings without the restrictions laid down by Congress in the 1957 civil rights law.

Case also said he is interested in giving the federal government authority it does not now have to intervene, under some circumstances, in investigations and possibly legal action in such things as bombings of schools and places or worship.

On other natters, Case said he talked with Eisenhower about legislation in the fields of immigration, unemployment compensation, education, health, and slum removal.

Junket Outlay Hits Half Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Traveling congressmen spent nearly a half million dollars worth of government-owned foreign currencies in their junkets through foreign lands last year.

The outlays hit a new high because of tours by House members to Paris, Hong Kong and points between. Perhaps half of the legislators journeyed abroad. The exact number has never been officially disclosed.

The House members used up $356,493.11 in foreign moneys, nearly three times the $122,062.06 reported the previous year.

Senators spent $131,791.96, a drop from the $169,185 of the year before. The total $488,285.07 for fiscal 1958—the year ended—was reported Friday by the House Administration and Senate Appropriations committees.

Red Guns Bomb Quemoy Heavily

TAIPEI (AP)—Communist guns which Thursday subjected the Quemoy Islands to the heaviest bombardment in more than five weeks were silent Friday.

It was part of the stop-go war in which the Reds abstain from shelling the complex on even-numbered days. It was also the almost inevitable forerunner to fresh artillery attacks Saturday, an odd-numbered day.

Ike Pledges Aid For Latin America

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday pledged the United States' "warmheated cooperation" in economic development of Latin America.

The assurance was given in a message to the closing session of an inter-American conference on economic development.

Two Children Die As Train Strikes Bus

ESSEX, Ont. (AP)—Eight children escaped death in a near-miracle but two died Friday as a New York-Detroit passenger train speeding 80 miles an hour through a fog sliced off the rear of their school bus.

Although injured, none of the eight children nor the driver appeared seriously hurt. Only one child remained in a hospital after first aid.

The crash occurred on an ice-coated, steeply inclined double-track crossing outside this Canadian town, 15 miles east of Windsor and across the Detroit River from Detroit, Mich.

Albert Slock, 25-year-old driver of the bus, explained: "When I saw the train I put on the brakes but it seemed they wouldn't hold and I started to slide. When I realized what was happening I gunned her and the motor cut out on me."

When the New York Central's Detroiter, 30 minutes late, rammed the bus only about three feet of the vehicle still hung over the unguarded crossing.

The 10-car train did not leave the rails and none of its 110 passengers was injured.

Those who died both were on the rear bus seat. They were David Purvis, 11, and Paul Bosse, 8.

Like the eight who lived, they were en route to St. Ignatius School of Essex's Holy Name Catholic parish.

"It wasn't Albert's (the driver's) fault," Stephen sobbed.

"I hope they don't blame Albert," said 14-year-old Raymond King in a Windsor hospital for shock and a possibly fractured leg. "He couldn't help it."

Slock, who suffered multiple bruises and shock, shepherded the eight living from the overturned front end of the bus and helped them to a farm house 300 yards away.

He said he didn't know two had been killed until he counted noses some 15 minutes later. Their bodies were found beside the sheared off rear end of the bus.

Hell Is Colder Than Paradise Weatherman Says

HELL, Mich. (AP) — It was colder in Hell than in Paradise Friday.

As a matter of fact, both places were frozen over. It was snowing in Hell, Mich., and ice was piling up at the fringe of Paradise, Mich. It got down to 8 below zero in Hell, but only 5 below in Paradise.

Hell is a tiny community named just that, 18 miles northwest of Ann Arbor. Paradise is a similarly tiny community on the western shore of Whitefish Bay, northwest of Sault Ste. Marie at the eastern end of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Baltimore Transit Income On Rise

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Transit Co. Friday reported a net income of $81,093 for October, the second best month of 1958.

The April profit was $117,935.

The company, which suffered losses early in the year due to snow storms, reported profit through October 31 of $227,477 against $709,122 for the first 10 months of 1957.

Revenue passengers for October totaled 9,884,906 compared with 10,416,667 in the same month of 1957.

Metal Worker Killed By Fan

BALTIMORE (AP) — A young sheet metal worker was fatally injured Friday when his clothing was caught in a fan belt and he was whirled around like a propellor.

Melvin Morris, 21, suffered a broken right shoulder, broken right arm, a possible skull fracture, cuts and bruises when caught up in the high-powered machine.

He was taken to South Baltimore General Hospital where he died a few hours later.

He was hurt at the Maryland Metal Building Co. plant.

Fellow workers said Morris was working on a devise used to cut metal when one of the fan belts of an overhead drive shaft came loose. Morris climbed a ladder to replace the belt. The front of his clothing got caught between the belt and drive shaft.

He was spun around until the clothing ripped apart, and then he was hurled to a concrete floor.

Another Inmate Escapes Jessups

JESSUP, Md. (AP) — Another prisoner has escaped from the Maryland House of Correction at Jessup.

He was identified as Carl B. Smith, formerly of Baltimore, who was serving a three year term for robbery.

Prison officials said Smith had been assigned to work in the engine room of the Reformatory for Women when he disappeared early Friday.

Five inmates escaped Tuesday by slipping through an eight-inch opening in the soap and paint shop. Two were captured Thursday, one in Ohio and the other in Allegany County.

Baltimore Beltway Section To Be Opened

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission will open another section of the Baltimore Beltway next Monday.

The 60 mile project will link U.S. 40 on the west and U.S. 301 on the south, with connections to the Baltimore-Washington Expressway, roads to Friendship International Airport and the Baltimore Harbor tunnel.

The divided highway, which includes 16 bridges, cost $16,800,000.

Wingate Robbery Suspect Released

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Eugene Benjamin Hurley, 32, of Baltimore, charged with two others in the $162,000 robbery at Wingate, was released in $30,000 bail Friday.

Donald Wersten, 37, of Baltimore, and Stephano Glaros, 32, of Harundale, were still being held.

The bail had been set at $100,000, but the state agreed to reduce it at a hearing before Magistrate Otis McAllister.

Daring Balloonists Begin Expedition Across Atlantic

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (AP)—Mrs. Rosemary Mudie waved from a wind-tossed balloon here early Friday and shouted: "So long! See you in the West Indies or somewhere."

Then she and three other daring Britons were off—with the first threat of disaster behind them—on an aerial Kon-Tiki expedition across the Atlantic from these old Spanish islands off Africa's northwest coast.

A throng of more than 200 beach watchers cheered them.

Within minutes the balloonists were lost from sight in the darkness, sweeping northwestward at 16 knots toward a trade wind belt which they hope will land them within three weeks on Barbados, 3,000 miles away in the British West Indies.

Rosemary, 30, is cook, photographer and copilot of the elaborately equipped balloon, called the Small World.

Her husband, Colin Mudie, 31, is the navigator. Mudie crossed the Atlantic to the West Indies in 1952 in a 19-foot whaleboat.

A. B. Eiloart, 51-year-old London businessman, is chief and pilot of the expedition. His son, Timothy, 21, a Cambridge University student, is radioman.

Eiolart didn't expect to leave until dawn. But gusty weather that developed shortly after midnight forced an early takeoff. The cry to ground crewmen to cut the moorings came at 1:04 a.m.

The wind pushed the reinforced plastic balloon toward the sea, dragging its gondola-boat across sand and salt water until the Britons could jettison enough ballast to start the ascent.

Weathermen estimated the Small World would have the southeast wind behind it for about 600 miles. Then the party will need blows from the northeast to push it down into the West Indies' latitudes.

The expedition, projected as the first free balloon flight across the Atlantic, is to study weather conditions and wind currents. It is under the patronage of Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

The balloon, 46 feet in diameter, has a capacity for 53,000 cubic feet of hydrogen. The gondola-boat, 15½ feet long and 7½ feet wide, is designed to serve as a lifeboat for the crew if the craft is forced down.

Man Is Found Frozen To Death

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A 51-year-old man was found dead in a tenant house at nearby Gambrills Thursday, and police said he apparently had frozen to death.

The dead man was identified as Adam Abend, who lived in a house on the property of Alvin B. Clark. His body was discovered by police after Clark reported he had not seen his tenant leave the house for nearly a week.

Abend was found lying on the floor near an unlighted oil stove. Burnt matches and an empty match box on the floor indicated he may have tried to light the stove, police said.

Tibbs Sentenced For Girl's Rape

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — William H. Tibbs, 22-year-old Dawsonville, Md., farmhand, was sentenced Friday to 20 years in prison. He was convicted last month of raping a 9-year-old girl.

Circuit Judge Kathryn J. Lawlor handed down the sentence, the maximum under the verdict.

The jury returned a verdict of "guilty without capital punishment," which automatically limited the sentence to a maximum of 20 years.

Tibbs had pleaded innocent on grounds of temporary insanity, claiming he could not remember what happened the night of the attack.

Appointed Judge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Henry L. Rogers, 39-year-old Northern District Police Court magistrate, Friday was appointed an associate judge of the People's Court of Baltimore City.

Miller Depot May Be Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House campaign expenditures committee was asked Friday to investigate the defeat of Rep. Edward T. Miller (R-Md) by Democrat Thomas F. Johnson.

The committee staff said the complaint will be referred to the committee when it meets Monday. Five other complaints, filed or announced, await committee action.

A sworn statement filed by Marvin H. Smith of Denton, Md., charged two violations of election laws during Johnson's campaign leading up to the Nov. 4 congressional election.

Smith said Johnson agreed to recommend Benjamin Wharton of Cecil County, Md. for appointment to West Point, subject to his qualifications, and that such a promise violated the Corrupt Practices Act.

Smith also said Johnson permitted a violation of the act prohibiting the distribution of unsigned campaign literature. He said a circular signed only by a committee which had not complied with Maryland provisions for registration was mailed and delivered to voters.

Brady Handed Death Sentence For Slaying

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Barring a reversal by the Court of Appeals or intervention by the governor, John Leo Brady is to die in the Maryland gas chamber the week of Jan. 26 for the slaying of William Brooks, whose automobile he sought for use in a bank robbery.

Chief Judge Benjamin Michaelson imposed the death penalty and set the execution date Friday in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court. The 25-year-old Upper Marlboro truck driver stood impassively as the judge rejected pleas for mercy and pronounced the sentence.

Brady was convicted earlier this week by a jury of 12 men who found him guilty of first degree murder in the June 27 strangling death of Broos, a 53-year-old semi-invalid and Odenton plastics plant worker, but made no recommendation regarding the sentence.

Brady insisted that Charles D. Boblit, 24 of Odenton, who is also charged with first degree murder, actually killed Brooks and that he (Brady) had intended no harm to his former friend. He said they had merely planned to take Brooks' new automobile for use as a getaway car in a bank robbery which they had been planning.

Boblit has waived a jury trial and is under observation at Spring Grove State Hospital. State's Atty. C. Osborne Duvall told Judge Michaelson Friday morning that Brady was "in reality the brains" of the robbery-murder and should be shown no leniency.

The murder occurred sometime after midnight the night of June 27. Brady testified how he and Boblit placed a log across a road near Brooks' home to stop his car. He said Boblit accosted Brooks when he got out to remove the log and struck him on the head with a gun. He later was strangled with the sleeve of a flannel shirt Boblit had been wearing as a jacket and his body was dumped into a gravel pit near Odenton.

Brady said he was conscience-stricken after the incident. He surrendered to authorities at the American embassy in Havana, Cuba, two days later and told FBI agents where the body could be found. Brooks' car had been abandoned near Lynchburg, Va. He also had been robbed of $250.

Appoints Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII Friday appointed the cardinals of Poland and West Germany to membership in the Sacred Congregation of the Council. The appointments meant Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski of Poland and Josef Cardinal Frings of Germany would be required to make more frequent visits to Rome.

APPOINTED — John D. Jernegan, a career diplomat, was chosen to be ambassador to Iraq by President Eisenhower. Jernegan now is counselor and deputy chief of mission of the U.S. Embassy in Rome. (AP Photofax)

Seaton Won't Quit His Post

HONOLULU (AP) — Fred A. Seaton said Friday he has no intention of resigning as secretary of interior.

He told newsmen that a report that he hoped to resign soon apparently resulted from a misunderstanding.

"This report is a mystery to me," Seaton said. "I guess it was a misunderstanding. I have no intention of resigning as secretary of the interior."

Seaton said he thought the misunderstanding grew out of a conversation Thursday night with a reporter of a Honolulu newspaper about his future after 1960.

He said Friday:

"I have no intention whatever of pursuing a political career following 1960. I have told reporters that in each of the 48 states."

Seaton said that in the past six years he hasn't been able to give his four children the attention to which they are entitled. He said he expects to return to his publishing business after 1960.

M'Keldin Says Capital Penalty Can Be Banned

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. McKeldin, who has commuted more death sentences than any other Maryland governor, Friday expressed the opinion that capital punishment should be abolished.

McKeldin made known his view on the subject in a question and answer period following an address at a luncheon of the Junior Bar Assn. of Baltimore City.

The governor said it is true that he had commuted more death sentences and it also was true that "I have studied more thoroughly the circumstances . . . than has any of my predecessors."

"Indeed I have studied each and every one that has occurred in the eight years of my administration."

McKeldin told the group he believes the Maryland Court of Appeals should have the power to reduce sentences in first degree murder cases, rather than merely reviewing the case to determine guilt or innocence.

Identify Bird

LONDON (UPI)—A native legend that a bird resembling the sharp-toothed batwinged prehistoric pterodactyl still inhabited the isolated northern marshes of Rhodesia in Africa has been disproved at last, according to reports reaching London. The bird has been identified with reasonable certainty as the rare whale-headed stork.

Hell Is Colder Than Paradise Weatherman Says

HELL, Mich. (AP) — It was colder in Hell than in Paradise Friday.

As a matter of fact, both places were frozen over. It was snowing in Hell, Mich., and ice was piling up at the fringe of Paradise, Mich. It got down to 8 below zero in Hell, but only 5 below in Paradise.

Hell is a tiny community named just that, 18 miles northwest of Ann Arbor. Paradise is a similarly tiny community on the western shore of Whitefish Bay, northwest of Sault Ste. Marie at the eastern end of Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Transit Co. Friday reported a net income of $81,093 for October, the second best month of 1958.

The April profit was $117,935.

The company, which suffered losses early in the year due to snow storms, reported profit through October 31 of $227,477 against $709,122 for the first 10 months of 1957.

Revenue passengers for October totaled 9,884,906 compared with 10,416,667 in the same month of 1957.

Metal Worker Killed By Fan

BALTIMORE (AP) — A young sheet metal worker was fatally injured Friday when his clothing was caught in a fan belt and he was whirled around like a propellor.

Melvin Morris, 21, suffered a broken right shoulder, broken right arm, a possible skull fracture, cuts and bruises when caught up in the high-powered machine.

He was taken to South Baltimore General Hospital where he died a few hours later.

He was hurt at the Maryland Metal Building Co. plant.

Fellow workers said Morris was working on a devise used to cut metal when one of the fan belts of an overhead drive shaft came loose. Morris climbed a ladder to replace the belt. The front of his clothing got caught between the belt and drive shaft.

He was spun around until the clothing ripped apart, and then he was hurled to a concrete floor.

Another Inmate Escapes Jessups

JESSUP, Md. (AP) — Another prisoner has escaped from the Maryland House of Correction at Jessup.

He was identified as Carl B. Smith, formerly of Baltimore, who was serving a three year term for robbery.

Prison officials said Smith had been assigned to work in the engine room of the Reformatory for Women when he disappeared early Friday.

Five inmates escaped Tuesday by slipping through an eight-inch opening in the soap and paint shop. Two were captured Thursday, one in Ohio and the other in Allegany County.

Baltimore Beltway Section To Be Opened

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission will open another section of the Baltimore Beltway next Monday.

The 60 mile project will link U.S. 40 on the west and U.S. 301 on the south, with connections to the Baltimore - Washington Expressway, roads to Friendship International Airport and the Baltimore Harbor tunnel.

The divided highway, which includes 16 bridges, cost $16,800,000.

Wingate Robbery Suspect Released

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Eugene Benjamin Hurley, 32, of Baltimore, charged with two others in the $162,000 robbery at Wingate, was released in $30,000 bail Friday.

Donald Wersten, 37, of Baltimore, and Stephano Glaros, 32, of Harundale, were still being held.

The bail had been set at $100,000, but the state agreed to reduce it at a hearing before Magistrate Otis McAllister.

Daring Balloonists Begin Expedition Across Atlantic

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (AP)—Mrs. Rosemary Mudie waved from a wind-tossed balloon here early Friday and shouted: "So long! See you in the West Indies or somewhere."

Then she and three other daring Britons were off—with the first threat of disaster behind them—on an aerial Kon-Tiki expedition across the Atlantic from these old Spanish islands off Africa's northwest coast.

A throng of more than 200 beach watchers cheered them.

Within minutes the balloonists were lost from sight in the darkness, sweeping northwestward at 16 knots toward a trade wind belt which they hope will land them within three weeks on Barbados, 3,000 miles away in the British West Indies.

Rosemary, 30, is cook, photographer and copilot of the elaborately equipped balloon, called the Small World.

Her husband, Colin Mudie, 31, is the navigator. Mudie crossed the Atlantic to the West Indies in 1952 in a 19-foot whaleboat.

A. B. Eiloart, 51-year-old London businessman, is chief and pilot of the expedition. His son, Timothy, 21, a Cambridge University student, is radioman.

Eiolart didn't expect to leave until dawn. But gusty weather that developed shortly after midnight forced an early takeoff. The cry to ground crewmen to cut the moorings came at 1:04 a.m.

The wind pushed the reinforced plastic balloon toward the sea, dragging its gondola-boat across sand and salt water until the Britons could jettison enough ballast to start the ascent.

Weathermen estimated the Small World would have the southeast wind behind it for about 600 miles. Then the party will need blows from the northeast to push it down into the West Indies' latitudes.

The expedition, projected as the first free balloon flight across the Atlantic, is to study weather conditions and wind currents. It is under the patronage of Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

The balloon, 46 feet in diameter, has a capacity for 33,000 cubic feet of hydrogen. The gondola-boat, 15½ feet long and 7½ feet wide, is designed to serve as a lifeboat for the crew if the craft is forced down.

Man Is Found Frozen To Death

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A 51-year-old man was found dead in a tenant house at nearby Gambrills Thursday, and police said he apparently had frozen to death.

The dead man was identified as Adam Abend, who lived in a house on the property of Alvin B. Clark. His body was discovered by police after Clark reported he had not seen his tenant leave the house for nearly a week.

Abend was found lying on the floor near an unlighted oil stove. Burnt matches and an empty match box on the floor indicated he may have tried to light the stove, police said.

Tibbs Sentenced For Girl's Rape

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — William H. Tibbs, 22-year-old Dawsonville, Md., farmhand, was sentenced Friday to 20 years in prison. He was convicted last month of raping a 9-year-old girl.

Circuit Judge Kathryn J. Lawlor handed down the sentence, the maximum under the verdict.

The jury returned a verdict of "guilty without capital punishment," which automatically limited the sentence to a maximum of 20 years.

Tibbs had pleaded innocent on grounds of temporary insanity, claiming he could not remember what happened the night of the attack.

Appointed Judge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Henry L. Rogers, 39-year-old Northern District Police Court magistrate, Friday was appointed an associate judge of the People's Court of Baltimore City.

Miller Depot May Be Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House campaign expenditures committee was asked Friday to investigate the defeat of Rep. Edward T. Miller (R-Md) by Democrat Thomas F. Johnson.

The committee staff said the complaint will be referred to the committee when it meets Monday. Five other complaints, filed or announced, await committee action.

A sworn statement filed by Marvin H. Smith of Denton, Md., charged two violations of election laws during Johnson's campaign leading up to the Nov. 4 congressional election.

Smith said Johnson agreed to recommend Benjamin Wharton of Cecil County, Md. for appointment to West Point, subject to his qualifications, and that such a promise violated the Corrupt Practices Act.

Smith also said Johnson permitted a violation of the act prohibiting the distribution of unsigned campaign literature. He said a circular signed only by a committee which had not complied with Maryland provisions for registration was mailed and delivered to voters.

Brady Handed Death Sentence For Slaying

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Barring a reversal by the Court of Appeals or intervention by the governor, John Leo Brady is to die in the Maryland gas chamber the week of Jan. 26 for the slaying of William Brooks, whose automobile he sought for use in a bank robbery.

Chief Judge Benjamin Michaelson imposed the death penalty and set the execution date Friday in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court. The 25-year-old Upper Marlboro truck driver stood impassively as the judge rejected pleas for mercy and pronounced the sentence.

Brady was convicted earlier this week by a jury of 12 men who found him guilty of first degree murder in the June 27 strangling death of Broos, a 53-year-old semi-invalid and Odenton plastics plant worker, but made no recommendation regarding the sentence.

Brady insisted that Charles D. Boblit, 24 of Odenton, who is also charged with first degree murder, actually killed Brooks and that he (Brady) had intended no harm to his former friend. He said they had merely planned to take Brooks' new automobile for use as a getaway car in a bank robbery which they had been planning.

Boblit has waived a jury trial and is under observation at Spring Grove State Hospital. State's Atty. C. Osborne Duvall told Judge Michaelson Friday morning that Brady was "in reality the brains" of the robbery-murder and should be shown no leniency.

The murder occurred sometime after midnight the night of June 27. Brady testified how he and Boblit placed a log across a road near Brooks' home to stop his car. He said Boblit accosted Brooks when he got out to remove the log and struck him on the head with a gun. He later was strangled with the sleeve of a flannel shirt Boblit had been wearing as a jacket and his body was dumped into a gravel pit near Odenton.

Brady said he was conscience-stricken after the incident. He surrendered to authorities at the American embassy in Havana, Cuba, two days later and told FBI agents where the body could be found. Brooks' car had been abandoned near Lynchburg, Va. He also had been robbed of $250.

Appoints Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII Friday appointed the cardinals of Poland and West Germany to membership in the Sacred Congregation of the Council. The appointments meant Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski of Poland and Josef Cardinal Frings of Germany would be required to make more frequent visits to Rome.

APPOINTED — John D. Jernegan, a career diplomat, was chosen to be ambassador to Iraq by President Eisenhower. Jernegan now is counselor and deputy chief of mission of the U.S. Embassy in Rome. (AP Photofax)

Seaton Won't Quit His Post

HONOLULU (AP) — Fred A. Seaton said Friday he has no intention of resigning as secretary of interior.

He told newsmen that a report that he hoped to resign soon apparently resulted from a misunderstanding.

"This report is a mystery to me," Seaton said. "I guess it was a misunderstanding. I have no intention of resigning as secretary of the interior."

Seaton said he thought the misunderstanding grew out of a conversation Thursday night with a reporter of a Honolulu newspaper about his future after 1960.

He said Friday:

"I have no intention whatever of pursuing a political career following 1960. I have told reporters that in each of the 48 states."

Seaton said that in the past six years he hasn't been able to give his four children the attention to which they are entitled. He said he expects to return to his publishing business after 1960.

M'Keldin Says Capital Penalty Can Be Banned

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. McKeldin, who has commuted more death sentences than any other Maryland governor, Friday expressed the opinion that capital punishment should be abolished.

McKeldin made known his view on the subject in a question and answer period following an address at a luncheon of the Junior Bar Assn. of Baltimore City.

The governor said it is true that he had commuted more death sentences and it also was true that "I have studied more thoroughly the circumstances . . . than has any of my predecessors."

"Indeed I have studied each and every one that has occurred in the eight years of my administration."

McKeldin told the group he believes the Maryland Court of Appeals should have the power to reduce sentences in first degree murder cases, rather than merely reviewing the case to determine guilt or innocence.

Identify Bird

LONDON (UPI)—A native legend that a bird resembling the sharp-toothed batwinged prehistoric pterodactyl still inhabited the isolated northern marshes of Rhodesia in Africa has been disproved at last, according to reports reaching London. The bird has been identified with reasonable certainty as the rare whale-headed stork.

Secrets Of Charm

Christmas Parties Can Be Tiring

You'll have a lot of enjoyment from your holiday festivities this year if you combat fatigue before it starts. Begin your campaign right now, to make the most of the coming season.

If you want to rush through myriad tasks and scramble on countless rounds, yet be fresh and gay for the season's parties, teach yourself breath control. Deep, natural breathing is one of the secrets of a tireless, nerve-free mind and body.

Deep breathing improves the poor posture that leads to body fatigue. You can't slouch or slump when you are filling your lungs to their capacity! And you automatically supply your muscle tissues with the increased oxygen necessary for sustained physical vitality. You'll discover that nervous tension diminishes almost magically as your physical fatigue is lessened.

Place your hands on your lower ribs and feel the expansion and contraction of your rib cage as you breathe. Inhale deeply and steadily for a count of four. Be sure to keep your shoulders relaxed and your chest elevated all the while. Now, slowly exhale to a count of four.

What happened? Did your chest heave up and down? If so, you're on the wrong track. The only movement that should have occurred is the expansion and contraction of your lower ribs. To correct your breathing, practice to a rhythmic count of four until expansion and contraction occur in the right place. Now is the time!

Here's an exercise to help you put rhythmical breathing into your everyday movements. Lie on your back with your legs straight, your arms at your sides and inhale. Raise the right leg to about a 45 degree angle with the floor and simultaneously swing both arms up and back over your head to the floor. As you do this exhale hard. Then, lower your arms and leg to the floor as you inhale deeply. Repeat with the opposite leg.

You'll find this forces you to breathe exactly the opposite of normal. That's what's good for you: You have to think about your breath control if you want to put it to work to combat fatigue!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Christmas Parties Can Be Tiring

You'll have a lot of enjoyment from your holiday festivities this year if you combat fatigue before it starts. Begin your campaign right now, to make the most of the coming season.

If you want to rush through myriad tasks and scramble on countless rounds, yet be fresh and gay for the season's parties, teach yourself breath control. Deep, natural breathing is one of the secrets of a tireless, nerve-free mind and body.

Deep breathing improves the poor posture that leads to body fatigue. You can't slouch or slump when you are filling your lungs to their capacity! And you automatically supply your muscle tissues with the increased oxygen necessary for sustained physical vitality. You'll discover that nervous tension diminishes almost magically as your physical fatigue is lessened.

Place your hands on your lower ribs and feel the expansion and contraction of your rib cage as you breathe. Inhale deeply and steadily for a count of four. Be sure to keep your shoulders relaxed and your chest elevated all the while. Now, slowly exhale to a count of four.

What happened? Did your chest heave up and down? If so, you're on the wrong track. The only movement that should have occurred is the expansion and contraction of your lower ribs. To correct your breathing, practice to a rhythmic count of four until expansion and contraction occur in the right place. Now is the time!

Here's an exercise to help you put rhythmical breathing into your everyday movements. Lie on your back with your legs straight, your arms at your sides and inhale. Raise the right leg to about a 45 degree angle with the floor and simultaneously swing both arms up and back over your head to the floor. As you do this exhale hard. Then, lower your arms and leg to the floor as you inhale deeply. Repeat with the opposite leg.

You'll find this forces you to breathe exactly the opposite of normal. That's what's good for you: You have to think about your breath control if you want to put it to work to combat fatigue!

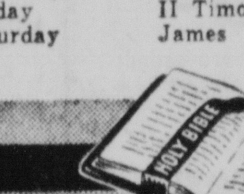
THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	II Corinthians	9	6-15
Monday	Romans	11	29-36
Tuesday	Luke	11	5-13
Wednesday	Matthew	5	21-26
Thursday	I Timothy	4	14-16
Friday	II Timothy	1	5-10
Saturday	James	1	17-18



Here's a present for Aunt Susie and Uncle Bill, for Cousin Kate and old Mrs. Higgins. But is there a present for God?

Foolish, you say? How could one possibly give God a Christmas present? Well, you can't give Him a package tied in bright paper and shining ribbon. But you can present to Him the gift of remembrance.

During your busy holiday season, stop for a moment to take stock of your life. Ask yourself what is really important about the Christmas season—and you'll know that He is.

Pause, even when you're rushed, to say a little prayer to Him. Christmas, after all, is His birthday. Can you do less than remember Him?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	II Corinthians	9	6-15
Monday	Romans	11	29-36
Tuesday	Luke	11	5-13
Wednesday	Matthew	5	21-26
Thursday	I Timothy	4	14-16
Friday	II Timothy	1	5-10
Saturday	James	1	17-18

Here's a present for Aunt Susie and Uncle Bill, for Cousin Kate and old Mrs. Higgins. But is there a present for God?

Foolish, you say? How could one possibly give God a Christmas present? Well, you can't give Him a package tied in bright paper and shining ribbon. But you can present to Him the gift of remembrance.

During your busy holiday season, stop for a moment to take stock of your life. Ask yourself what is really important about the Christmas season—and you'll know that He is.

Pause, even when you're rushed, to say a little prayer to Him. Christmas, after all, is His birthday. Can you do less than remember Him?

PE Safety Record Given Recognition At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Service Department of the Potomac Edison Company has set a significant record in safety performance, according to District Manager E. L. Ewald.

Employes of that department have completed their eleventh consecutive year without a lost-time accident, thereby setting a new safety record for the Potomac Edison System. Since their last lost-time accident November 6, 1947, department employes have worked a total of 263,535 accident-free man hours.

The group was presented their eleventh consecutive safety plaque at a dinner held in honor of the occasion. PE's director of district operations, A. J. Bowen of Hagerstown, presented the award. Service Manager Henry R. Yates accepted the award on behalf of his fellow employes.

In accepting the award, Yates pointed out the teamwork that is necessary in any group's effort to maintain safety. He said, "Any team which does not play a 'heads up' game is second rate and will never end the season as a champion. In the same manner, any gang which does not work in a 'heads up' manner is second rate and some of its members will pay the price by getting hurt."

Ewald also congratulated Service Department employes, commenting that the 11-year record is only the result of full cooperation by each and every employe working safely towards a goal of complete safety.

Others in attendance at the ceremony were Vice President C. D. Lyon, General Service Supervisor H. A. James, Lonaconing's local manager, E. D. Lewis and Safety Supervisor R. E. Beard.

PE Safety Record Given Recognition At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Service Department of the Potomac Edison Company has set a significant record in safety performance, according to District Manager E. L. Ewald.

Employes of that department have completed their eleventh consecutive year without a lost-time accident, thereby setting a new safety record for the Potomac Edison System. Since their last lost-time accident November 6, 1947, department employes have worked a total of 263,535 accident-free man hours.

The group was presented their eleventh consecutive safety plaque at a dinner held in honor of the occasion. PE's director of district operations, A. J. Bowen of Hagerstown, presented the award. Service Manager Henry R. Yates accepted the award on behalf of his fellow employes.

In accepting the award, Yates pointed out the teamwork that is necessary in any group's effort to maintain safety. He said, "Any team which does not play a 'heads up' game is second rate and will never end the season as a champion. In the same manner, any gang which does not work in a 'heads up' manner is second rate and some of its members will pay the price by getting hurt."

Ewald also congratulated Service Department employes, commenting that the 11-year record is only the result of full cooperation by each and every employe working safely towards a goal of complete safety.

Others in attendance at the ceremony were Vice President C. D. Lyon, General Service Supervisor H. A. James, Lonaconing's local manager, E. D. Lewis and Safety Supervisor R. E. Beard.

In other P.V.C. games last night Franklin High's Panthers won at Moorefield by the score of 59-53, Petersburg's Vikings downed Mathias, 63-56, and Wardensville High's Warriors trimmed Berkeley Springs' Indians, 74-40.

Franklin's win was the third in a row but its first in the conference. Billy Wimer and Jack Simon headed the Panthers' offensive with 21 and 16 points, respectively, while Doug Yankee and Jim Paugh were the chief point makers for the Yellowjackets with 17 and 16.

Bill Reynolds dumped in 22 points to lead Petersburg to its second victory in the conference. All of his tallies came on 11 field goals. Forrest Mathias with nine baskets and 20 points was Mathias High's leading scorer.

Julian Hott and Virgil Heishman collected 22 and 20 points in Wardensville's initial win of the campaign. Rohman led Berkeley Springs with 13.

WVU Swamps Duke, 101-63, Avenges Loss

West, Smith Get 55 Winners' Points

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) —West Virginia, led by Jerry West and Bob Smith, crushed Duke's basketball forces Friday night 101-63 to avenge the only regular-season loss the Mountaineers suffered a year ago.

West had 29 points and Smith 26 in a one-two effort. Smith put WVU ahead 5-0 early and the Mountaineers stormed in front 16-2 before Marty Joyce got the first Duke goal.

Duke canned only 10 of 36 shots against West Virgnia's tight man-for-man defense in the first half for a 27.7 percentage.

West Virginia hit 17 of 30 field goal attempts for 56.6 per cent over the first 20 minutes and zipped into a 50-28 lead as West led the way with his first 20 points and Smith with 19.

Howard Hurt of Beckley, W. Va., was Duke's top scorer with 18 points.

The victory was fourth-ranked West Virginia's fifth straight this year. Duke lost its third in a row without a victory.

Taylor Scores 28 Markers In Piedmont Win

Lions Turn Back Beall High, 66-42

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — Forward Joe "Goose" Taylor scored 21 of his 28 total points in the first half here last night to lead the Piedmont Lions back to the victory trail as coach William "Huck" Miers charges spilled the Beall Mountaineers, 66-42.

The triumph was the third for the Lions whose only loss thus far was a 49-46 affair last week to the Valley Black Knights. The setback was the second for the Mounties who lost, 67-54, to Keyser in their opener.

Last night the Lions, with Taylor setting a torrid pace, jumped off to a 18-11 first quarter lead, steadily increased their margin and were never threatened by the Mounties who trailed, 52-25, going into the final quarter.

Wayne Russell and Dan F. Twyman equally shared 22 points and Dan T. Twyman chipped in with 10 for Piedmont. Beall was paced from the floor by guard Ed Finn's 12 markers.

Piedmont easily outscored the Frostburg quint in the field goal department, 28-17, and converted 10 of 19 free throws to Beall's eight for 20. Box score:

Browns Need Win Sunday To Earn Shot At NFL Title

Giants Battle Cleveland In Crucial Game

New York Victory Would Tie Up Race, Necessitate Playoff

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Something's gotta give in Yankee Stadium Sunday when the Cleveland Browns, the best road club in the National Football League, take on the New York Giants, one of the top clutch teams, in the highlight of the final program of the regular season.

A victory for the Browns will send them into the title game against Baltimore, the Western Conference champ, Dec. 28. A triumph for New York will necessitate a playoff with Cleveland next Sunday in New York. Cleveland leads the Eastern Conference with a 9-2 mark while the Giants are 8-3.

Lost Two At Home

Both of the Browns' setbacks came on home grounds—17-21 to the Giants and 10-30 to the Detroit Lions. Cleveland has won five games without a setback on enemy gridirons.

The Giants lost when least expected, first to the Philadelphia Eagles, then to the Chicago Cards and Pittsburgh. But to remain in contention, Jim Lee Howell's men turned back the Browns in their first meeting Nov. 2, beat Baltimore Nov. 9, and won another "must" game against Detroit last Sunday with a final period rally.

Colts Play 'Frisco

Pittsburgh and the Cardinals kick off the last weekend of the campaign Saturday in a nationally televised (CBS, 1:30 p.m., EST) game. In Sunday's other games, Baltimore is at San Francisco, Detroit at the Chicago Bears, Green Bay at Los Angeles and Philadelphia at Washington.

Except for the Giants-Browns tussle, which is expected to attract a crowd of more than 70,000, the most important ones are in Chicago and Los Angeles. The Bears and Rams are tied for second place in the Western Conference at 7-4.

The Rams will be seeking their fifth victory in a row over Green Bay, whom they defeated 20-7 in their first meeting this year. The Bears beat Detroit 20-7 earlier this season.

The Steelers, with five victories and a tie in their last six, have clinched third place in the Eastern Conference. The Steelers knocked off the Cards 27-20 Nov. 23.

Beat Forty Niners

Baltimore scored 28 points in the second half after trailing 27-7 to beat San Francisco in a previous get-together this year. Washington tripped Philadelphia 24-14 in the opening game of the season for both clubs.

Detroit, last season's NFL titleholder, can finish no higher than fourth in the Western division. And this can only be accomplished if the Lions beat the Bears and San Francisco loses to Baltimore.

Waterford Requests Revision Of Dates

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Racing Commission said Friday it had granted a request by Waterford Park, Chester, for a hearing to revise 1959 racing dates assigned to the track recently.

A commission spokesman said the time and the place of the meeting would be announced soon.

At a commission meeting earlier this month Waterford was granted authority to stage a spring meet April 11-May 30, a summer meet July 29-Sept. 7, and a fall meet Nov. 4-Nov. 28, excluding Thanksgiving Day.

There was no indication as to how Waterford proposed to rearrange the dates.

Frankie Albert Quits As Forty Niners' Coach

Fires Blast At Boos Of Fans And Critics

By P. D. ELDRED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fed up with the personal strain of professional football coaching, young Frankie Albert fired a stinging blast at the boos of fans and critics and resigned Friday as head coach of the San Francisco 49ers.

"It is one thing to be booed as a player," the 38-year-old former Stanford All-America quarterback told a press conference. "Then you can get in there and show them.

"But it is an entirely different thing when, as a coach on the sidelines, you have to stand there and take it helplessly for things your players do and breaks of the game that go against the club.

"I'm resigning for personal reasons, because it is pretty difficult to maintain a happy home and live a normal life when your wife and children can't go into a store or attend a game without embarrassment. . .where they are sweating out every game as much as I am.

"I could let off steam as a player, but I couldn't as a coach. So I am through with football coaching, definitely finished."

Albert and Vic Morabito, principal stockholder of the 49er club in which Frankie owns five per cent, sat side by side in smiling amiability through the press conference. He has directed the team for three years. His pay is believed between $25,000 and $30,000 a year.

Albert will not sever his coaching connections until after Sunday's season-ending game against the Western Conference champion Baltimore Colts at Kezar Stadium.

Morabito said he wasn't doing anything about a replacement until after that game. The 49ers go into Sunday's game with a 5 lost, 6 won record.

Keiling Posts 576, New League Record

Four Bowl Games Set For Today

Blue Grass Game Will Be Televised

By The Associated Press

The nationally televised Blue Grass Bowl game Saturday between Oklahoma State and Florida State at Louisville, Ky., features a four-game bowl program this weekend.

Also on the schedule are Saturday afternoon's Junior Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif., matching Northeastern A&M of Oklahoma and Santa Monica College of California; Saturday night's Orange Blossom Bowl game at Miami, pitting Florida A&M and Prairie View, Tex.; and Sunday's Shrimp Bowl game at Galveston, Tex., with Eglin, Fla., Air Force opposing Brooke Medical Center of San Antonio, Tex.

The Blue Grass Bowl action will be televised via ABC, starting at [illegible] p.m., EST.

Two of Oklahoma State's regulars, guard Dan Wagner and quarterback David Cross, were flu victims earlier this week. But both are expected to be in the lineup.

Florida State, which like its opponent had a 7-3 regular season record, features a razzle-dazzle offense that produced 29 touchdowns this year.

More than 50,000 spectators are expected to witness the Junior Rose Bowl Game. Both teams were undefeated and untied in the games. Prospects are bright for a high scoring game because Northeastern scored 273 points and Santa Monica 359 during the season. The California squad is a slight favorite.

Eglin had only one tie to mar its 10-game record while Brooke won nine and lost one. The contest is to determine the service championship. Eglin has Jim Morris, a former star halfback for Georgia Tech, and quarterback Huston Patton from Mississippi. Forrest Wright of Missouri and Tom Albright of Texas will be among those in the Brooke backfield.

Cateran, VS.O.P. Score Upsets In Races At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (AP) — Glen T. Halowell's Cateran and Mrs. Milton Erlanger's V.S.O.P. shared top honors at Pimlico today when they scored mild upsets in the sixth and seventh races, respectively.

Ridden by Bennie Green, Cateran faced allowance-type sophomores in winning by two lengths from Mrs. Walter Edgar's Dared To in 1:43 1-5 for a mile and 70 yards. Lanrover, running for Mrs. Ian S. Montgomery, was third.

A beaten favorite in his previous race, Cateran returned $12.00 for $2 in gaining his second victory of the season.

V.S.O.P., a 4-year-old import from England, ran faster than Cateran when he was clocked the mile and 70 yards in 1.42 2-5, missing the track record by only three-fifths of a second.

Karl Korte, leading rider of the meeting with 21 victories, found his greatest difficulty in having V.S.O.P. outrun Air Wonder in the first half mile. However, the latter gave way badly and V.S.O.P. galloped on to the wire to win by four lengths from longshot Noble Drake while Herald Wind, the choice, was third.

The Sports Patrol

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts:

The National Football League closes out its 39th regular season Sunday in better financial condition than any other professional team sport on the American scene. After its bitter early years, the NFL has only one major problem. Finding parks big enough to hold all the customers.

But of the original 1920 franchises only two survive—Chicago Cardinals and Chicago Bears (then known as Decatur, Ill., Staleys). And only George Halas of the Bears is left among the pioneer coaches of those early raggedy-andy days when money had to be borrowed for travel, players were paid out of a box-office kitty when there was one and uniforms were purchased after store-to-store canvassing of local merchants for the wherewithal.

Might Train In Alps

If Ingemar Johansson of Sweden actually gets that shot at heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson at Colorado Springs, Colo., next year he's expected to do his preliminary training in the Alps to get acclimated to Colorado's high altitude. Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager won't be caught napping, though. Wouldn't surprise us if he pitched Floyd's camp on Pikes Peak.

Bobby Shantz of the Yankees is a rarity among pitchers. Every time one of his infielders makes a dandy play while Bobby is pitching the little lefty walks over and says, "Thank you" to the guy that did it. Shantz is such a good fielder himself, his mates on the infield play their positions differently on days he works, knowing they won't have to cover for him as well as themselves.

When defensive ace Emlen Tunnell of the New York Giants trots out against the Cleveland Browns Sunday it'll be his 126th straight game over [illegible] seasons. That rates him a "Tunnell Day" with a flock of gifts including a new car. "Emlen the Gremlin" owns seven league records for his work as a safety man.

Austria Pushing Stadium

Austria, hopeful of snaring the 1964 winter Olympic Games, is pushing a five-million-dollar stadium at Innsbruck in the Tyrolean Alps. Arena will seat 10,000.

Govonor Vaughn and Mannie Jackson, two Illinois basketball regulars, are only juniors but they've been teammates for nine years. They were kids together at Edwardsville, [illegible] grade and high schools.

Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals opens his Florida baseball school [illegible] 10 at Tampa with pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm of the Orioles and catcher Hal Smith of the Cards on the staff. Man behind the works is Lou Haneles, veteran school operator.

Duke Snider of the Los Angeles Dodgers who put on too much weight after his knee troubles last winter, has shed the excess at last and figures to be in fine fettle to shoot for the right field fence in the Coliseum if and when Walter O'Malley moves it closer—as promised. The Duke, in the right mood, can be murder with a bat.

Hines Praise Corle
* * *
Rides 118 Winners

The Situation Here
* * *
'Taint So, Says Arno

By C. V. BURNS

ARTHUR HINE, Bedford Pa., merchant, who was instrumental in persuading Robert E. Corle, the former Bedford High School flyweight wrestler to become a jockey, informs us that "Bobby" still has a cast on his leg but hopes to be O.K. and ready to resume riding at Hialeah Park, Florida, the latter part of January.

Corle is recuperating at his home in Imler, Pa., about nine miles from Bedford.

Hine states that Corle has ridden 118 winners this year and his rating as an apprentice rider expires next month.

Corle started riding in 1956 but he didn't achieve his first winner until January 31, 1958, when he scored aboard Guy's Birthday, a $100 for $2 shot, at Sunshine Park in Florida.

Hubert Hine, son of Arthur, has been the trainer of public stables since 1950, and among his string of thoroughbreds are Boiler Plate, Top Model and Rosebud, which race in his mother's name. Top Model won four races last year.

Hubert recalls Corle's debut in Florida last winter and gets a chuckle out of it.

"Bobby" looked so bad that the stewards wanted to take him off the horses because they didn't think the 95-pound lad could handle them.

"Honestly, I didn't think he was going to make it," Hubert declared.

The trainer, however, changed his mind after seeing the lad, who celebrated his 23rd birthday on July 16, turn in sensational performances at Delaware Park, Atlantic City and Garden State. It was at the latter track that Corle fell from Shannondale Nov. 4 and suffered a broken fibula bone in his left leg.

Arthur Hine, who promotes horse shows at Bedford annually in September, says Bobby is still single, is intelligent, thrifty, has good manners and doesn't bet on horses. He predicts we'll be reading many nice things about Corle when he gets back in the saddle again.

THE Cumberland Fair Association's final decision on whether it will hold its 12-day race meeting at Fairgo in September, competing against the night racing at Shenandoah Park in Charles Town, W.Va., or transfer its 12 days to the Marlboro track, will hinge on the outcome of the next meeting of officials of the Maryland Half Mile Tracks Association.

DON HARDEN, who has done an excellent job as assistant coach at LaSalle High School in recent years, certainly will be given consideration when candidates for the football coaching post are screened at the local school, according to Brother Thomas, athletic director.

WHEN Piedmont lost to Valley High on Tuesday night it was the first defeat at home for "Huck" Miers' Lions since the final game of the 1956-57 season which Keyser won. Piedmont had reeled off ten straight wins at home before bowing to the Black Knights.

VINNIE FARRELL, the internationally known basketball official, who has many friends in Cumberland, has had the Pro Deo et Juventute Medal conferred on him by Archbishop Boland for 30 years of service to the youth in New Jersey.

COACH Arno B. Hott, of Capon Bridge High School, says there is a slight error in the report of the game out of Romney last Tuesday which stated that Bill Maphis broke a Hampshire County scoring record when he made 43 points on 14 field goals and 15-21 fouls as the Pioneers defeated the West Virginia School for the Deaf, 108-35.

Mr. Hott reports that on February 28, 1958, Alan Thorn, center of Capon Bridge High School of Hampshire county, scored 43 points on 20 field goals and 3-4 fouls in a tourney game against Berkeley Springs which Capon Bridge won, 78-49.

This is correct and it means that Maphis tied Thorn's record unless somebody comes up with a higher scoring performance.

RICHARD "Dick" DeHart, Allegany High School alumnus, is serving his third year as varsity basketball coach at Millersville (Pa.) Teachers College. His teams have won 34 and lost 11 and he has directed the Marauders to two straight Pennsylvania Teachers College Conference championships.

"Dick" is teaching biology, health and physical education.

KARL KORTE and Lawrence Reynolds, the teen-age apprentice star, who thrilled 'em at Fairgo in September, are running 1-2 in the jockeys' race with 21 and 18 winners, respectively, as the Pimlico meeting goes into its final day.

DAVE HART, head coach of Johnstown (Pa.) High School's Trojans, has been granted a new five-year contract and the entire coaching staff has received pay increases of $150 each.

The Trojans won 11 straight games this year, including the WPIAL championship game against Clairton.

Hart's salary is now $2,500 and includes $1,800 for football, $300 for athletic director and $400 for track coaching.

Paul Abele, one-time Meyersdale High coach, and brother-in-law of Paul Sheehe, local restaurateur, is among five of Hart's aides who got salary boosts.

Johnstown used to appear on Allegany High's grid schedule. The schools engaged in a 5-game series, 1925-1929, and the Trojans won four games, three by the margin of one touchdown. The last contest was a scoreless tie.

WE LIKE the story about the Baltimore Colts season ticket holder who purposely ordered two seats behind a pole.

He insisted because two of his pals were drinking at the games and had not been seeing much after the first quarter anyhow.

When that happens next season he plans to move them behind the pole and use their seats for some of his other friends who want to see the game.

Antlerless Deer Legal Game Today On Eastern Shore

BALTIMORE (AP)—For nine and a half hours Saturday, antlerless deer will be legal game in four Eastern Shore Counties.

About 3,000 hunters are expected to join in the chase in Wicomico, Somerset, Dorchester and Worcester counties. Gunning starts at dawn, 7:17 a.m., and ends at sundown, 4:43 p.m.

The full quota of 3,600 permits has been issued by the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, but a number of these applicants got bucks during last week's antlered season and are ineligible to hunt for does and fawns.

Last year, sleet and snow kept down the kill and only 47 kills were reported by 1,000 specially licensed hunters.

The anterless season was set up to reduce the herd of deer, which have caused heavy farm crop damage. Stalkers during the recent bow and arrow and gunning hunts reported a heavy population of does and fawns.

Jones And Calhoun Fight Monday Night

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Ralph "Tiger" Jones will gamble Monday night in the fight ring here not only for a second victory over Rory Calhoun but also for a better chance to sign for a spring bout with Carmen Basilio in Syracuse.

Calhoun is favored by 7-5 odds in the Toyshop Fund Show here even though he lost a close decision over Calhoun in their first meeting at Madison Square Garden a month ago because the referee denied him a round.

Keller, Bayer Lead Sanford Open Golf

Doug Sanders Drops Six Strokes Behind

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Bob Keller, civilian golf pro at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., and big George Bayer of Glen Eagles, Ill., each shot a four-under-par 67 Friday for 135 totals and shared the lead at the halfway mark in the Sanford Open Golf Tournament.

The one-stroke lead Doug Sanders of Miami Beach held at the end of the first round vanished as he soared to a 76 for a second-round total of 141. Three three-putt greens contributed to his downfall.

One stroke behind the leaders at 136 were National Open Champion Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla., with a 70 Friday to add to a first-rouund 66; and Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., shooting a second straight 68.

Behind Bolt and Harbert were Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., each with 137. Finsterwald had a 66 to add to his par 71 of Thursday. The 66 tied Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., for low round of the day.

The field was cut to 62 pros and 9 amateurs for the third round Saturday, with a score of 145 or better qualifying for the pros.

Browns Need Win Sunday To Earn Shot At NFL Title

Giants Battle Cleveland In Crucial Game

New York Victory Would Tie Up Race, Necessitate Playoff

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Something's gotta give in Yankee Stadium Sunday when the Cleveland Browns, the best road club in the National Football League, take on the New York Giants, one of the top clutch teams, in the highlight of the final program of the regular season.

A victory for the Browns will send them into the title game against Baltimore, the Western Conference champ, Dec. 28. A triumph for New York will necessitate a playoff with Cleveland next Sunday in New York. Cleveland leads the Eastern Conference with a 9-2 mark while the Giants are 8-3.

Lost Two At Home

Both of the Browns' setbacks came on home grounds—17-21 to the Giants and 10-30 to the Detroit Lions. Cleveland has won five games without a setback on enemy gridirons.

The Giants lost when least expected, first to the Philadelphia Eagles, then to the Chicago Cards and Pittsburgh. But to remain in contention, Jim Lee Howell's men turned back the Browns in their first meeting Nov. 2, beat Baltimore Nov. 9, and won another "must" game against Detroit last Sunday with a final period rally.

Colts Play 'Frisco

Pittsburgh and the Cardinals kick off the last weekend of the campaign Saturday in a nationally televised (CBS, 1:30 p.m., EST) game. In Sunday's other games, Baltimore is at San Francisco, Detroit at the Chicago Bears, Green Bay at Los Angeles and Philadelphia at Washington.

Except for the Giants-Browns tussle, which is expected to attract a crowd of more than 70,000, the most important ones are in Chicago and Los Angeles. The Bears and Rams are tied for second place in the Western Conference at 7-4.

The Rams will be seeking their fifth victory in a row over Green Bay, whom they defeated 20-7 in their first meeting this year. The Bears beat Detroit 20-7 earlier this season.

The Steelers, with five victories and a tie in their last six, have clinched third place in the Eastern Conference. The Steelers kicked off the Cards 27-20 Nov. 23.

Beat Forty Niners

Baltimore scored 28 points in the second half after trailing 27-7 to beat San Francisco in a previous get-together this year. Washington tripped Philadelphia 24-14 in the opening game of the season for both clubs.

Detroit, last season's NFL titleholder, can finish no higher than fourth in the Western division. And this can only be accomplished if the Lions beat the Bears and San Francisco loses to Baltimore.

Waterford Requests Revision Of Dates

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Racing Commission said Friday it had granted a request by Waterford Park, Chester, for a hearing to revise 1959 racing dates assigned to the track recently.

A commission spokesman said the time and the place of the meeting would be announced soon.

At a commission meeting earlier this month Waterford was granted authority to stage a spring meet April 11-May 30, a summer meet July 29-Sept. 7, and a fall meet Nov. 4-Nov. 28, excluding Thanksgiving Day.

There was no indication as to how Waterford proposed to rearrange the dates.

Frankie Albert Quits As Forty Niners' Coach

Fires Blast At Boos Of Fans And Critics

By P. D. ELDRED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fed up with the personal strain of professional football coaching, young Frankie Albert fired a stinging blast at the boos of fans and critics and resigned Friday as head coach of the San Francisco 49ers.

"It is one thing to be booed as a player," the 38-year-old former Stanford All-America quarterback told a press conference. "Then you can get in there and show them.

"But it is an entirely different thing when, as a coach on the sidelines, you have to stand there and take it helplessly for things your players do and breaks of the game that go against the club.

"I'm resigning for personal reasons, because it is pretty difficult to maintain a happy home and live a normal life when your wife and children can't go into a store or attend a game without embarrassment. . .where they are sweating out every game as much as I am.

"I could let off steam as a player, but I couldn't as a coach. So I am through with football coaching, definitely finished."

Albert and Vic Morabito, principal stockholder of the 49er club in which Frankie owns five per cent, sat side by side in smiling amiability through the press conference. He has directed the team for three years. His pay is believed between $25,000 and $30,000 a year.

Albert will not sever his coaching connections until after Sunday's season-ending game against the Western Conference champion Baltimore Colts at Kezar Stadium.

Morabito said he wasn't doing anything about a replacement until after that game. The 49ers go into Sunday's game with a 5 lost, 6 won record.

Keiling Posts 576, New League Record

A new high was established in Chuckle's Mixed Bowling League this week when "Chuckles" Keiling, of the Bolts, posted a 177-194-205—576 to lead them to three straight wins over the Rivets.

The Nails tightened their grip on first place with a 2-1 decision over the Nuts while in the third match of the evening the Washers defeated the Screws in three games.

Other high scorers were: Fran Schiller, Rivets, 191—460; Ruth Kreitzburg, Nails, 177—444; Hubert Nichols, Nuts, 156—445; Bill Freeman, Washers, 189—506, and Bill Smith, Screws, 166—475. The standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Nails	22	11	.667
Bolts	18	15	.545
Nuts	16	17	.485
Screws	15	18	.455
Washers	15	18	.455
Rivets	13	20	.394

Lions Name Captain

NEW YORK (UPI) — William Campbell of Homestead, Pa., a 170-pound guard, has been named captain of the 1958 Columbia University freshman football team.

The Sports Patrol

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts:

The National Football League closes out its 39th regular season Sunday in better financial condition than any other professional team sport on the American scene. After its bitter early years, the NFL has only one major problem. Finding parks big enough to hold all the customers.

But of the original 1920 franchises only two survive—Chicago Cardinals and Chicago Bears (then known as Decatur, Ill., Staleys). And only George Halas of the Bears is left among the pioneer coaches of those early raggedy-andy days when money had to be borrowed for travel, players were paid out of a box-office kitty when there was one and uniforms were purchased after store-to-store canvassing of local merchants for the wherewithal.

Might Train In Alps

If Ingemar Johansson of Sweden actually gets that shot at heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson at Colorado Springs, Colo., next year he's expected to do his preliminary training in the Alps to get acclimated to Colorado's high altitude. Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager won't be caught napping, though. Wouldn't surprise us if he pitched Floyd's camp on Pikes Peak.

Bobby Shantz of the Yankees is a rarity among pitchers. Every time one of his infielders makes a dandy play while Bobby is pitching the little lefty walks over and says, "Thank you" to the guy that did it. Shantz is such a good fielder himself, his mates on the infield play their positions differently on days he works, knowing they won't have to cover for [illegible] as themselves.

When defensive ace Emlen Tunnell of the New York Giants trots out against the Cleveland Browns Sunday it'll be his 126th straight game over [illegible] seasons. That rates him a "Tunnell Day" with a flock of gifts including a new car. "Emlen the Gremlin" owns seven league records for his work as a safety man.

Austria Pushing Stadium

Austria, hopeful of snaring the 1964 winter Olympic Games, is pushing a five-million-dollar stadium at Innsbruck in the Tyrolean Alps. Arena will seat 10,000.

Govonor Vaughn and Mannie Jackson, two Illinois basketball regulars, are only juniors but they've been teammates for nine years. They were kids together at Edwardsville, [illegible] grade and high schools.

Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals opens his Florida baseball school [illegible] 10 at Tampa with pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm of the Orioles and catcher Hal Smith of the Cards on the staff. Man behind the works is Lou Haneles, veteran school operator.

Duke Snider of the Los Angeles Dodgers who put on too much weight after his knee troubles last winter, has shed the excess at last and figures to be in fine fettle to shoot for the right field fence in the Coliseum if and when Walter O'Malley moves it closer—as promised. The Duke, in the right mood, can be murder with [illegible] bat.

Four Bowl Games Set For Today

Blue Grass Game Will Be Televised

By The Associated Press

The nationally televised Blue Grass Bowl game Saturday between Oklahoma State and Florida State at Louisville, Ky., features a four-game bowl program this weekend.

Also on the schedule are Saturday afternoon's Junior Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif., matching Northeastern A&M of Oklahoma and Santa Monica College of California; Saturday night's Orange Blossom Bowl game at Miami, pitting Florida A&M and Prairie View, Tex.; and Sunday's Shrimp Bowl game at Galveston, Tex., with Eglin, Fla., Air Force opposing Brooke Medical Center of San Antonio, Tex.

The Blue Grass Bowl action will be televised via ABC, starting at [illegible] p.m., EST.

Two of Oklahoma State's regulars, guard Dan Wagner and quarterback David Cross, were flu victims earlier this week. But both are expected to be in the lineup.

Florida State, which like its opponent had a 7-3 regular season record, features a razzle-dazzle offense that produced 29 touchdowns this year.

More than 50,000 spectators are expected to witness the Junior Rose Bowl Game. Both teams were undefeated and untied in the games. Prospects are bright for a high scoring game because Northeastern scored 273 points and Santa Monica 359 during the season. The California squad is a slight favorite.

Eglin had only one tie to mar its 10-game record while Brooke won nine and lost one. The contest is to determine the service championship. Eglin has Jim Morris, a former star halfback for Georgia Tech, and quarterback Huston Patton from Mississippi. Forrest Wright of Missouri and Tom Albright of Texas will be among those in the Brooke backfield.

Cateran, V.S.O.P. Score Upsets In Races At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Dec. 12 (AP) — Glen T. Halowell's Cateran and Mrs. Milton Erlanger's V.S.O.P. shared top honors at Pimlico today when they scored mild upsets in the sixth and seventh races, respectively.

Ridden by Bennie Green, Cateran faced allowance-type sophomores in winning by two lengths from Mrs. Walter Edgar's Dared To in 1:43 1-5 for a mile and 70 yards. Lanrover, running for Mrs. Ian S. Montgomery, was third.

A beaten favorite in his previous race, Cateran returned $12.00 for $2 in gaining his second victory of the season.

V.S.O.P., a 4-year-old import from England, ran faster than Cateran when he was clocked the mile and 70 yards in 1.42 2-5, missing the track record by only three-fifths of a second.

Karl Korte, leading rider of the meeting with 21 victories, found his greatest difficulty in having V.S.O.P. outrun Air Wonder in the first half mile. However, the latter gave way badly and V.S.O.P. galloped on to the wire to win by four lengths from longshot Noble Drake while Herald Wind, the choice, was third.

Hines Praise Corle * * * Rides 118 Winners

The Situation Here * * * 'Taint So, Says Arno

By C. V. BURNS

ARTHUR HINE, Bedford Pa., merchant, who was instrumental in persuading Robert E. Corle, the former Bedford High School flyweight wrestler to become a jockey, informs us that "Bobby" still has a cast on his leg but hopes to be O.K. and ready to resume riding at Hialeah Park, Florida, the latter part of January.

Corle is recuperating at his home in Imler, Pa., about nine miles from Bedford.

Hine states that Corle has ridden 118 winners this year and his rating as an apprentice rider expires next month.

Corle started riding in 1956 but he didn't achieve his first winner until January 31, 1958, when he scored aboard Guy's Birthday, a $100 for $2 shot, at Sunshine Park in Florida.

Hubert Hine, son of Arthur, has been the trainer of public stables since 1950, and among his string of thoroughbreds are Boiler Plate, Top Model and Rosebud, which race in his mother's name. Top Model won four races last year.

Hubert recalls Corle's debut in Florida last winter and gets a chuckle out of it.

"Bobby" looked so bad that the stewards wanted to take him off the horses because they didn't think the 95-pound lad could handle them.

"Honestly, I didn't think he was going to make it," Hubert declared.

The trainer, however, changed his mind after seeing the lad, who celebrated his 23rd birthday on July 16, turn in sensational performances at Delaware Park, Atlantic City and Garden State. It was at the latter track that Corle fell from Shannondale Nov. 4 and suffered a broken fibula bone in his left leg.

Arthur Hine, who promotes horse shows at Bedford annually in September, says Bobby is still single, is intelligent, thrifty, has good manners and doesn't bet on horses. He predicts we'll be reading many nice things about Corle when he gets back in the saddle again.

THE Cumberland Fair Association's final decision on whether it will hold its 12-day race meeting at Fairgo in September, competing against the night racing at Shenandoah Park in Charles Town, W.Va., or transfer its 12 days to the Marlboro track, will hinge on the outcome of the next meeting of officials of the Maryland Half Mile Tracks Association.

DON HARDEN, who has done an excellent job as assistant coach at LaSalle High School in recent years, certainly will be given consideration when candidates for the football coaching post are screened at the local school, according to Brother Thomas, athletic director.

WHEN Piedmont lost to Valley High on Tuesday night it was the first defeat at home for "Huck" Miers' Lions since the final game of the 1956-57 season which Keyser won. Piedmont had reeled off ten straight wins at home before bowing to the Black Knights.

VINNIE FARRELL, the internationally known basketball official, who has many friends in Cumberland, has had the Pro Deo et Juventute Medal conferred on him by Archbishop Boland for 30 years of service to the youth in New Jersey.

COACH Arno B. Hott, of Capon Bridge High School, says there is a slight error in the report of the game out of Romney last Tuesday which stated that Bill Maphis broke a Hampshire County scoring record when he made 43 points on 14 field goals and 15-21 fouls as the Pioneers defeated the West Virginia School for the Deaf, 108-35.

Mr. Hott reports that on February 28, 1958, Alan Thorn, center of Capon Bridge High School of Hampshire county, scored 43 points on 20 field goals and 3-4 fouls in a tourney game against Berkeley Springs which Capon Bridge won, 78-49.

This is correct and it means that Maphis tied Thorn's record unless somebody comes up with a higher scoring performance.

RICHARD "Dick" DeHart, Allegany High School alumnus, is serving his third year as varsity basketball coach at Millersville (Pa.) Teachers College. His teams have won 34 and lost 11 and he has directed the Marauders to two straight Pennsylvania Teachers College Conference championships.

"Dick" is teaching biology, health and physical education.

KARL KORTE and Lawrence Reynolds, the teen-age apprentice star, who thrilled 'em at Fairgo in September, are running 1-2 in the jockeys' race with 21 and 18 winners, respectively, as the Pimlico meeting goes into its final day.

DAVE HART, head coach of Johnstown (Pa.) High School's Trojans, has been granted a new five-year contract and the entire coaching staff has received pay increases of $150 each.

The Trojans won 11 straight games this year, including the WPIAL championship game against Clairton.

Hart's salary is now $2,500 and includes $1,800 for football, $300 for athletic director and $400 for track coaching.

Paul Abele, one-time Meyersdale High coach, and brother-in-law of Paul Sheehe, local restaurateur, is among five of Hart's aides who got salary boosts.

Johnstown used to appear on Allegany High's grid schedule. The schools engaged in a 5-game series, 1925-1929, and the Trojans won four games, three by the margin of one touchdown. The last contest was a scoreless tie.

WE LIKE the story about the Baltimore Colts season ticket holder who purposely ordered two seats behind a pole.

He insisted because two of his pals were drinking at the games and had not been seeing much after the first quarter anyhow.

When that happens next season he plans to move them behind the pole and use their seats for some of his other friends who want to see the game.

Antlerless Deer Legal Game Today On Eastern Shore

BALTIMORE (AP)—For nine and a half hours Saturday, antlerless deer will be legal game in four Eastern Shore Counties.

About 3,000 hunters are expected to join in the chase in Wicomico, Somerset, Dorchester and Worcester counties. Gunning starts at dawn, 7:17 a.m., and ends at sundown, 4:43 p.m.

The full quota of 3,600 permits has been issued by the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, but a number of these applicants got bucks during last week's antlered season and are ineligible to hunt for does and fawns.

Last year, sleet and snow kept down the kill and only 47 kills were reported by 1,000 specially licensed hunters.

The anterless season was set up to reduce the herd of deer, which have caused heavy farm crop damage. Stalkers during the recent bow and arrow and gunning hunts reported a heavy population of does and fawns.

Jones And Calhoun Fight Monday Night

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Ralph "Tiger" Jones will gamble Monday night in the fight ring here not only for a second victory over Rory Calhoun but also for a better chance to sign for a spring bout with Carmen Basilio in Syracuse.

Calhoun is favored by 7-5 odds in the Toyshop Fund Show here even though he lost a close decision over Calhoun in their first meeting at Madison Square Garden a month ago because the referee denied him a round.

Keller, Bayer Lead Sanford Open Golf

Doug Sanders Drops Six Strokes Behind

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Bob Keller, civilian golf pro at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., and big George Bayer of Glen Eagles, Ill., each shot a four-under-par 67 Friday for 135 totals and shared the lead at the halfway mark in the Sanford Open Golf Tournament.

The one-stroke lead Doug Sanders of Miami Beach held at the end of the first round vanished as he soared to a 76 for a second-round total of 141. Three three-putt greens contributed to his downfall.

One stroke behind the leaders at 136 were National Open Champion Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla., with a 70 Friday to add to a first-rouund 66; and Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., shooting a second straight 68.

Behind Bolt and Harbert were Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., each with 137. Finsterwald had a 66 to add to his par 71 of Thursday. The 66 tied Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., for low round of the day.

The field was cut to 62 pros and 9 amateurs for the third round Saturday, with a score of 145 or better qualifying for the pros.

Sheriff Must Use Gas From County Garage

It was agreed at yesterday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that in the future the cars of the sheriff's office will be fueled from pumps at the county garage on Franklin Street.

Sheriff Edward R. Muir appeared before the board yesterday after Commissioner John Tucker Mason at last Tuesday's session objected to the purchase of high test gasoline at 36 cents per gallon.

Sheriff Muir said the gas bought at that price was purchased in Frederick County by a deputy sheriff taking a prisoner to a state penal institution. Commissioner Mason said he was not objecting to the purchase of gasoline in cases when the cars were being used outside the county.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said high test gasoline was not necessary in any event. Sheriff Muir said the cars of the sheriff's office used the high test as otherwise the motors knocked when on trips over the mountains east of here. Rowan said that if they needed the high test in such cases it would probably be all right.

The county garage buys its gasoline in bulk and the price per gallon would be about half that of the retail price, Rowan said.

Sheriff Muir was then informed by Leslie Clark, attorney to the board, that the commissioners wanted him to furnish monthly reports of expenditures of the sheriff's office. Clark said that he understands that such has not been the practice in the past, but the law specifically requires that such monthly statements be furnished the county board.

The sheriff said he does submit bills incurred by his office to the county auditor and they are checked by the commissioners. Clark said that the system provided by the law in this case will have to be followed.

Deaths And Funerals

MISS MARY HAUSMAN

Miss Mary Hausman, 72, died yesterday at her home, 122 Wilmont Avenue, following a lengthy illness.

Retail Liquor

tighten the law on sales to minors.

Mr. Ritter said he believes that the law "does not have enough teeth in it" and that minors who represent themselves as over 21 years of age should be prosecuted and punished just as severely as dealers who make illegal sales to minors.

He was reminded that such a change was added to the county liquor law, and replied, "I do not think it is severe enough and has not been fully enforced. I have three bartenders and they use good judgment and try to stay within the law. But none of us have full protection from the young man or woman who falsely represents himself or herself as 21, or produces someone else's license or other identification to prove it."

The law, he said, should cover misrepresentation just as sternly as it does for an individual who forges a check or misrepresents himself in any other way.

The delegation thanked the dealers for their views and said it will take their suggestions under advisement.

Both Drivers Negligent But $4,593 Awarded

Verdicts totaling $4,593.19 for two young boys and the owner of an automobile involved in a collision on U. S. Route 40 at the eastern end of Allegany County were returned yesterday by a Circuit Court jury despite the fact that the jury ruled that drivers of both vehicles were negligent.

Mrs. Amie Mason, now Mrs. Amie Broadbent, New Castle, Del., was found guilty of contributory negligence so she cannot collect for her own injuries, hospital and medical expenses and loss of wages. She had sued James H. Garland, trading as the Garland Petroleum Company, and Franklin Eugene Westfall, a driver for Garland.

The jury, which deliberated about two hours, first ruled that Westfall was guilty of negligence in his operation of the Garland tractor-trailer eastbound on U. S. Route 40.

Under the instructions received from Chief Judge Morgan C. Harmen, the jury of seven men and five women decided that Mrs. Broadbent was entitled to $264.20 for medical and hospital expenses incurred in behalf of her two sons, Larry and Vaughn Mason.

The jurors also decided that Vaughn, who was more seriously injured in the Thanksgiving Day 1957 crash, was entitled to $2,500 for his personal injuries and Larry to $500.

On the final issue of the case, the jury ruled that Harry Clark of Wilmington, Del., who loaned Mrs. Broadbent the car she was driving at the time of the crash, was entitled to $1,328.99 for himself and the Home Insurance Company of New York, for damage to the vehicle. Mr. Clark will collect the $50 he advanced on his deductible insurance policy and the insurance firm is entitled to the rest.

Testimony in the case was heard Thursday and the final argument was concluded yesterday morning. William H. Geppert was attorney for Mrs. Broadbent and W. Earle Cobey and Gorman E. Getty represented the defendants.

Sheriff Must Use Gas From County Garage

It was agreed at yesterday's session of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that in the future the cars of the sheriff's office will be fueled from pumps at the county garage on Franklin Street.

Sheriff Edward R. Muir appeared before the board yesterday after Commissioner John Tucker Mason at last Tuesday's session objected to the purchase of high test gasoline at 36 cents per gallon.

Sheriff Muir said the gas bought at that price was purchased in Frederick County by a deputy sheriff taking a prisoner to a state penal institution. Commissioner Mason said he was not objecting to the purchase of gasoline in cases when the cars were being used outside the county.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said high test gasoline was not necessary in any event. Sheriff Muir said the cars of the sheriff's office used the high test as otherwise the motors knocked when on trips over the mountains east of here. Rowan said that if they needed the high test in such cases it would probably be all right.

The county garage buys its gasoline in bulk and the price per gallon would be about half that of the retail price, Rowan said.

Sheriff Muir was then informed by Leslie Clark, attorney to the board, that the commissioners wanted him to furnish monthly reports of expenditures of the sheriff's office. Clark said that he understands that such has not been the practice in the past, but the law specifically requires that such monthly statements be furnished the county board.

The sheriff said he does submit bills incurred by his office to the county auditor and they are checked by the commissioners. Clark said that the system provided by the law in this case will have to be followed.

Both Drivers Negligent But $4,593 Awarded

Verdicts totaling $4,593.19 for two young boys and the owner of an automobile involved in a collision on U. S. Route 40 at the eastern end of Allegany County were returned yesterday by a Circuit Court jury despite the fact that the jury ruled that drivers of both vehicles were negligent.

Mrs. Amie Mason, now Mrs. Amie Broadbent, New Castle, Del., was found guilty of contributory negligence so cannot collect for her own injuries, hospital and medical expenses and loss of wages. She had sued James H. Garland, trading as the Garland Petroleum Company, and Franklin Eugene Westfall, a driver for Garland.

The jury, which deliberated about two hours, first ruled that Westfall was guilty of negligence in his operation of the Garland tractor-trailer eastbound on U. S. Route 40.

Under the instructions received from Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, the jury of seven men and five women decided that Mrs. Broadbent was entitled to $264.20 for medical and hospital expenses incurred in behalf of her two sons, Larry and Vaughn Mason.

The jurors also decided that Vaughn, who was more seriously injured in the Thanksgiving Day 1957 crash, was entitled to $2,500 for his personal injuries and Larry to $500.

On the final issue of the case, the jury ruled that Harry Clark of Wilmington, Del., who loaned Mrs. Broadbent the car she was driving at the time of tthe crash, was entitled to $1,328.99 for himself and the Home Insurance Company of New York, for damage to the vehicle. Mr. Clark will collect the $50 he advanced on his deductible insurance policy and the company will be entitled to the rest.

Testimony in the case was heard Thursday and the final argument was concluded yesterday morning. William H. Geppert was attorney for Mrs. Broadbent and W. Earle Cobey and Gorman E. Getty represented the defendants.

Mr. Ritter said he believes that the law "does not have enough teeth in it" and that minors who represent themselves as over 21 years of age should be prosecuted and punished just as severely as dealers who make illegal sales to minors.

He was reminded that such a change was added to the county liquor law, and replied, "I do not think it is severe enough and has not been fully enforced. I have three bartenders and they use good judgment and try to stay within the law. But none of us have full protection from the young man or woman who falsely represents himself or herself as 21, or produces someone else's license or other identification to prove it."

The law, he said, should cover misrepresentation just as sternly as it does for an individual who forges a check or misrepresents himself in any other way.

The delegation thanked the dealers for their views and said it will take their suggestions under advisement.

Some Of The Things The IGY Has Brought

Don't look now, but the world has 40 per cent more snow and ice on it than was previously believed to be the case. The estimated total is now approximately 4.5 billion cubic miles of snow and ice. Your per capita share of that is about two cubic miles, if you want to put in a claim for it.

You don't see any practical value in this information? Well, it's one of the discoveries of the International Geophysical Year, now in the last month of its 18-month existence. It will take years to digest all this information, which in turn will point the way to new discoveries.

But for those seeking something really practical, the IGY has other news. Millions of square miles of the bottom of the Southeast Pacific are covered with a mineral-rich sludge. The manganese, cobalt, copper and other minerals it contains are worth half a billion dollars a square mile at present prices. Prospects of dredging it up at a profit appear promising.

Man's future ability to control the weather may depend on his knowledge of undersea currents and the laws that govern their flow. The IGY has discovered many new currents. One cold current flows below the warm Gulf Stream several miles down. Another flows close to the surface in the opposite direction from the Pacific equatorial current.

The sputniks and the current moon probes are IGY projects designed to afford knowledge of the earth and its spatial environment. So are the extensive studies of Antarctica. Apparently this vast "continent" is, beneath its snow and ice, a scattered congeries of island and mountain chains after all.

These are a few of the results—and perhaps the least important—of the IGY project on which 66 nations and more than 60,000 scientists cooperated.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Conversation Piece

It is interesting to talk to young and old, to the different generations and to try to discover what is actually going on in the minds of all kinds of folks. Many of the older generation are discouraged, it would seem, because money is not worth what it used to be and the young people are disrespectful. But one meets quite a number of youngsters who do know where they are going and are very much interested in the course of events and who are not so fearful ~~of~~ the inflation because they expect a closer association of the individual and the government and that somehow the government will accomplish as a social institution what the individual cannot accomplish by himself.

What it really amounts to is that the world does not come to an end because a generation or two becomes very discouraged by the course of events. Parents are achingly anxious that there should be no war, but sons join R.O.T.C.s as usual and get ready for what might come. Boys and girls at college are thinking in broad terms, of how they might improve government and how they might even rebuild society while their parents wonder how to export dollars from here to Venezuela or Switzerland or how to organize a Liechtenstein corporation which will save them from paying income taxes.

All the time, we hear about the juvenile delinquents, but how often do we hear about the juvenile top grade students whose marks are in the 90s and who know well in advance that these jobs, teaching, research, investigating, experimenting will bring small pay. But they marry, have families, even while they are at college. In my day, one was thrown out of college for kissing a girl on the campus—but nowadays, it is possible to continue to take courses after one is married. It is a changed world and many parents do not understand what the changes are or what they mean.

The older generation is not a little frightened. It has witnessed the roughness of income tax inspections; it has worried itself sick about hiding dollars under the bed or in a locked box in a bank; it has even moved money to Switzerland.

It has been inordinately money-conscious. The younger generation wants all the things that money will buy but it desires not to sacrifice integrity to get the money. Older folks sometimes say that the youngsters have a "guilt complex."

But it is not a guilt complex at all. It is a sense of social responsibility that has taken hold early in life. It is the kind of responsibility which in the 19th century sent young men and women into settlement houses and later into missions in Asia and Africa and South America. This same sense of social responsibility is affecting large numbers of young people to relate themselves to their age.

In the 1930s, Communism appealed to some. The churches had a wonderful opportunity to attract youth and to offer them a hope of resurrection but they lost their way in the early 50s by trying to find compromises which were discouraging. Youngsters who turned to churches in the 40s turned away in the 50s because they could not find there the sense of resurrection which is what one seeks in religion.

And so now, the youngsters turn not only to science but to knowledge of every kind and it is not unusual to find a youngster today with a head full of book-learning, and who is trying to think out his problems on a broad basis with some philosophic background.

What you read about are juvenile delinquents who are no more dramatic in what they do. They may be noisier but not more interesting. They are the remnants of a decadent age; those whom I have described are the forerunners of the future.

These by the thousands are turned out year after year from our colleges and universities and somehow they make their way into the world—into their world—into jobs in government or in schools or colleges or corporations. They will never be Morgans or Rockefellers or Carnegies but some may be Steinmetzes or Westinghouses or Edisons or even Einsteins. After all, we still have a Rickover and a von Braun in the United States.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — If you want to see what rockets and satellites are doing to the United States on the positive side, come down to this onetime crossroads among Alabama cotton fields now called Rocket City, USA. Some even call it the "space capital of the world."

Whatever you want to call it, Huntsville in 1950 had a population of 16,472. Today its population is 68,000. Mayor R. B. Searcy calls it the "growingest" city in the world, which is probably true; while the citizens who elect him call Searcy the "digginest" mayor in the world. They refer to the fact that the mayor is under constant compulsion to bulldoze old cotton fields into new highways or dig up old highways for new sewer lines.

Says Sen. John Sparkman who lives in Huntsville: "This town has built 37 new churches and 165 new classrooms in the last three or four years. There are 60 more under construction. Internal Revenue collectors inform me that the Redstone Arsenal has the largest payroll in the state."

Ten years ago cotton fields came right up to within a few blocks of Huntsville's main street. Today king cotton has retreated before long rows of housing projects and factories. The roll call of industries which have moved to this part of Alabama reads like a Detroit industrial directory — Chrysler, Thiokol, Warrior Tool and Engineering, Brown Engineering, Redstone Machine and Tool, Diversey Consultants, General Electric, Rohm and Haas Chemical, Rocketdyne Division of North American Aviation.

These plants, plus the Army arsenal, are why Huntsville has become the "growingest" city in the world, and why R. B. Searcy has become the "digginest" mayor.

Germany In Alabama

On a ridge outside Huntsville is a colony of 300 scientists who helped build the first buzz-bombs which so terrorized London during the closing days of the war and might have knocked England out of the war if they had been developed earlier. Headed by Dr. Wernher Von Braun, the scientists came to the United States after V-E day as guests of the U. S. Army and have been here ever since.

Though President Eisenhower once stated that the majority of the German scientists were picked up by the Russians and thus Russia got the benefit of their brains, actually Dr. Braun states the contrary. Most of the German scientists, he says, came to the United States.

"The Germans object strenuously to being called German," remonstrated deputy commander Brig. Gen. J. M. Colby when I used that term. "They tell me, 'You were born in this country by accident. But we chose it. We are Americans and we want to be called Americans'."

Fear In The South

Two of the best members of the U. S. Senate, Lister Hill and John Sparkman of Alabama, have been so cowed by the north-south race issue that they are flirting with Sam Engelhardt, president of the White Citizens Councils.

Engelhardt is a big plantation owner who employs between 200 and 300 Negroes and is active both in the White Citizens Councils and in the conservative wing of the Democratic party. He led the recent drive to take control of the Democratic party machinery away from loyalist-moderates.

With him are aligned Earl McGowin, vice president of the W. T. Smith Lumber Company, one of the biggest in the south; also John Curry, vice president of the First National Bank of Montgomery. Most of this group voted Republican in both 1952 and 1956. While they are not happy over Ike's sending of troops into Little Rock, they are still against the Democrats who supported Stevenson. Sparkman not only remained loyal to Stevenson both years but in 1952 served as his vice-presidential running mate.

Hill and Sparkman have always voted with the south on racial matters but have never engaged in rabble-rousing. Now the issue has become so hot that, fearful for their political futures, they have been flirting with the idea of making Sam Engelhardt the new chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

Russian A-Plane??

The experts in Huntsville were not surprised when President Eisenhower did not refute Premier Khrushchev's statement to Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota that Russia had a ballistic missile with an 8,700-mile range.

The book "USA — 2nd-Class Power?" points out that Washington knew in May 1957 that the Soviets had fired an intercontinental ballistic missile "from Kolguev Island to the Sea of Okhotsk, a distance of 4,500 miles." Despite this, budget cutting continued.

The fact that Russia has now almost doubled the 4,500 range came as no great surprise, but what did cause surprise was Eisenhower's sharp rejection of the report that Russia now has an atomic-powered plane.

For the first time hints that Russia might be pulling ahead of us in atomic aircraft research were contained in Russian scientific documents translated last winter and placed on the President's desk at that time. The Air Force also at that time urged a crash program which would have put an atomic U. S. plane in the skies by 1960.

President Eisenhower, however said no. He made his negative decision last March and stuck by it, despite repeated urgings that we might fail behind Russia. Instead, he approved a leisurely program which would not produce an atomic plane for three or more years. This may have been the reason he was so loath to admit reports that Russia has now forged ahead of the United States with an atomic-powered plane.

Court Strikes Blow Against Union Compulsion

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Compulsory membership in a labor union where dues and other fees are used, without the consent of union members, to aid in the election of public officials is a violation of the Constitution of the United States according to a decree formally issued this week by a superior court in the state of Georgia.

Judge O. L. Long, after presiding at a trial involving nine railroads and fifteen unions, issued his written opinion on December 8. He writes:

"Said exaction and use of money and said union shop agreements and their enforcement are contrary to the Constitution, the law and public policy of this state, and are contrary to the statutes or laws of other states in which the defendant railroads operate. Said exaction and use of money, said union shop agreements and Section 2 (eleventh) of the Railway Labor Act and their enforcement violate the United States Constitution which in the First, Fifth, Ninth and Tenth Amendments thereto guarantees to individuals protection from such unwarranted invasion of their personal and property rights — including freedom of association, freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of work, and their political freedom and rights — under the cloak of federal authority. . . .

"The labor-union defendants, by their commingling of funds used for collective-bargaining purposes and activities and those used for the complained of purposes and activities set forth above have made it impossible to segregate the amount of dues collected from plaintiffs and the class they represent which are and will be used for collective-bargaining purposes from those which are and will be used for the complained of purposes and activities set forth above."

The court further decreed that the unions should pay back to the employes the dues they had paid under protest and under threat of loss of their jobs. The decree adds:

"This decree and order shall operate as an adjudication of the basic common rights asserted by plaintiffs in their own behalf and on behalf of other employes of the defendant railroads similarly situated."

The decree issued in Georgia is not based on the so-called "right to work" law of the state of Georgia but on the Federal Constitution and particularly on the federal law governing collective bargaining on common carriers.

The facts in the case were "stipulated" in advance by both sides, so there is no question but that money collected in some manner from union members has been used for political purposes. The issue of whether this violated the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, which prohibits labor unions and corporations from contributing to political campaigns for the election of federal officials, was not involved in the case. The court merely said it could not differentiate between the sums collected for strictly union purposes and those "exacted from the plaintiffs" for political campaigns and came to the conclusion that the consent of the contributors had not been obtained.

One way out for the unions, of course, is to segregate their funds in such a way that union dues are not used for political purposes and only voluntary contributions are employed in campaigns. Basically, it is questionable whether the Federal Corrupt Practices laws are Constitutional, for they interfere with the right of a citizen or group of citizens to express political views through contributions.

The Georgia case does not concern the right to contribute voluntarily but only the forced contribution and the penalty imposed — loss of a job unless union requirements are fulfilled.

The fundamental issue is really compulsory unionization. The so-called "right to work" laws have been mischievously misrepresented as being a method of "busting" unions or of prohibiting collective bargaining. The truth is that federal laws protect collective bargaining and the unionized shop in which a majority of employes belong to a union. The words "union shop," as used nowadays in labor parlance, mean an all-union shop, and this provides that anyone who refuses to belong to the union or pay dues has to be fired by the employer. The worker may have conscientious objections to joining a labor union but he must do so or, if he doesn't join, he must submit to a tax — the payment of the expenses of the union. He gives up his right to bargain as an individual and, under "union shop" agreements, he must pay a penalty besides in the form of what use is made of the dues. The Georgia court—with a strong hint taken from a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States to back up the ruling —now says that a man cannot be forced against his will in free America to pay tribute to a political party or to a private organization whose viewpoint he does not share.

Stress In Animals, And Wood For Your Ulcer

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Animals, as well as humans, are contronted with stress. In a conference of the behavioral scientists at Oxford, England, one speaker reported that kids separated from their dams for an hour or two right after birth subsequently suffered a high mortality. The majority died within a year.

Stress among animals was the subject of another research study on factors leading to arteriosclerosis. One school of thought is that high levels of fat in the diet are responsible for this process; another, that there is a combination of factors, including stress.

Findings on captive wild mammals and birds tend to support the latter view. The mammal with the greatest incidence of arteriosclerosis is the agouti, a South American rodent that is a relative of the guinea pig. The second highest incidence of hardening of the arteries in mammals occurs in kangaroos, followed in turn by the American water rat (coypu), bears, and civets. Squirrels have the least.

Birds are worse than mammals in that they have a higher frequency of arteriosclerosis. The larger birds are affected most. The incidence of arteriosclerosis among captive birds and mammals has increased between tenfold and twentyfold during the last 40 years. This cannot be accounted for by diet or age. The blame has been placed on the social pressures brought on by overcrowding in the zoos.

Toxemias of pregnancy are twice as common among obese women as among expectant mothers of normal weight, according to a study done on 100 consecutive women whose weight at one time exceeded 200 pounds. Obese patients gained only 11.5 pounds compared with 13 in the nonoverweight group. Fat women had an excessively prolonged labor in contrast to their more slender counterparts.

A by-product of wood may be a potential ulcer remedy. Dr. T. Lloyd Fletcher of the University of Washington School of Medicine found that in rats, calcium lignin sulfonates reduce gastric acidity and counteract experimental pepic ulcer. Another wood by-product, vanillin, is being utilized in a new test for diabetes. There seems to be no limit to the use of wood.

MORNING KERCHOOS

W. C. R. writes: My 10 year old son sneeezes eight to 10 times every morning on getting up. This happens all the year 'round, so it isn't hay fever. He is all right the rest of the day. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY

Sneezing may be due to allergy or to secretions in the nose and throat that are dislodged by change in posture. In some instances, sneezing stems from vasomotor rhinitis. Persons with this condition sneeze on entering an air conditioned room or when sitting in a draft. The fault lies in the membranes of the nasal passageways. Your boy ought to be examined by a nose and throat specialist.

ARTERIOSCLEROSIS

M. Z. writes: Does overeating cause hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

Indirectly, in that arteriosclerosis develops earlier in the obese. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on arteriosclerosis.

SCAR ERADICATION

Mrs. F. writes: Can chicken pox scars on the face be removed?

REPLY

Dermabrasion has been helpful for this purpose provided the scars are not too deep.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

J. R. writes: Is it better to sleep with the head elevated or level?

REPLY

Whichever is more comfortable.

USUALLY NOT SERIOUS

Mrs. N. M. writes: What would cause enlargement of the breasts in a 12 year old boy?

REPLY

Gynecomastia occurs occasionally in adolescent boys and disappears spontaneously. Examination is advised, however, to determine whether the enlargement is a tumor.

ANTIBIOTICS

F. W. writes: What is done today for bronchopneumonia?

REPLY

An attempt is made to find the causative organism so that an appropriate antibiotic can be prescribed. Beyond this, the treatment is the same as for a severe cold.

CYSTIC KIDNEYS

D. G. writes. What is done for a large cyst on a kidney?

REPLY

Surgical removal of the cyst or the kidney may be advised, depending upon the nature of the lesion. Medical treatment is recommended when many cysts are present on both kidneys.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The Bond Debacle

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — Something new in "coming out" parties is to be staged in Wall Street.

The Stock Exchange's suspension of George K. Garvin, a leading figure in the debacle in the Government bond market last spring, ends at 3:30 p. m. December 18.

At 4 p. m. on that date — a half hour after the close of business on the Exchange, Garvin is throwing a large cocktail party at the Bankers Club.

Invitations in keeping with the Christmas season have gone out to hundreds of individuals in and out of the financial district to celebrate the occasion.

The Stock Exchange's and the American Stock Exchange's Board of Governors suspended Garvin, senior partner in Garvin, Bantel & Co., money brokers, for three months. The Stock Exchange found him guilty on five charges of practices in violation of its rules, including 5 per cent margins on bonds and failing to keep proper records of customers' accounts.

The Exchange governors fined the other partners in the firm $25,000—$5,000 on each of the charges. The suspension applied only to Garvin, and the firm has continued with its business.

The lightness of the disciplinary action reflects the belief of a majority of the Exchange governors that others, including several of the large banks and corporations, had an equal if not greater responsibility for the activities that contributed to the debacle in the Government bond market.

Other factors in the bond market's collapse were the Federal Reserve's switch in its money policy and bad judgment by the U.S. Treasury in attempting a long term bond issue last June.

The debacle — one of the worst shake-outs in bond market history — cost speculators, business men, banks, corporations and the usual widows and orphans millions of dollars.

It was a $3 billion speculation, and Garvin's firm as a money broker arranged financing for a half billion of this total.

The money came from banks, some of which required no margins, from corporation treasurers and from individuals. It was a "sure thing" — and for some it would have been if they had not been greedy.

The appeal in the speculation was a triple one: A tax escaping gimmick, a "sure thing" gamble for Government bonds had a long record of going to immediate premiums after a new offering, and a "fool proof" way to get more interest income by buying Government bonds on very small or no margin. The Stock Exchange is the only one that requires a margin on Government bond trades, and this is only 5 per cent against now the 90 per cent on stock.

The speculation backfired when some of the "free riders" held onto their new bonds instead of immediately selling them out.

There is not much to celebrate for those caught in the debacle, for the Government bond market has recovered little of its lost ground. We wonder if any of them will accept the invitation.

Some Of The Things The IGY Has Brought

Don't look now, but the world has 40 per cent more snow and ice on it than was previously believed to be the case. The estimated total is now approximately 4.5 billion cubic miles of snow and ice. Your per capita share of that is about two cubic miles, if you want to put in a claim for it.

You don't see any practical value in this information? Well, it's one of the discoveries of the International Geophysical Year, now in the last month of its 18-month existence. It will take years to digest all this information, which in turn will point the way to new discoveries.

But for those seeking something really practical, the IGY has other news. Millions of square miles of the bottom of the Southeast Pacific are covered with a mineral-rich sludge. The manganese, cobalt, copper and other minerals it contains are worth half a billion dollars a square mile at present prices. Prospects of dredging it up at a profit appear promising.

Man's future ability to control the weather may depend on his knowledge of undersea currents and the laws that govern their flow. The IGY has discovered many new currents. One cold current flows below the warm Gulf Stream several miles down. Another flows close to the surface in the opposite direction from the Pacific equatorial current.

The sputniks and the current moon probes are IGY projects designed to afford knowledge of the earth and its spatial environment. So are the extensive studies of Antarctica. Apparently this vast "continent" is, beneath its snow and ice, a scattered congeries of island and mountain chains after all.

These are a few of the results—and perhaps the least important—of the IGY project on which 66 nations and more than 60,000 scientists cooperated.

These Days

Conversation Piece

It is interesting to talk to young and old, to the different generations and to try to discover what is actually going on in the minds of all kinds of folks. Many of the older generation are discouraged, it would seem, because money is not worth what it used to be and the young people are disrespectful. But one meets quite a number of youngsters who do know where they are going and are very much interested in the course of events and who are not so fearful ~~of~~ the inflation because they expect a closer association of the individual and the government and that somehow the government will accomplish as a social institution what the individual cannot accomplish by himself.

What it really amounts to is that the world does not come to an end because a generation or two becomes very discouraged by the course of events. Parents are achingly anxious that there should be no war, but sons join R.O.T.C.s as usual and get ready for what might come. Boys and girls at college are thinking in broad terms, of how they might improve government and how they might even rebuild society while their parents wonder how to export dollars from here to Venezuela or Switzerland or how to organize a Liechtenstein corporation which will save them from paying income taxes.

All the time, we hear about the juvenile delinquents, but how often do we hear about the juvenile top grade students whose marks are in the 90s and who know well in advance that these jobs, teaching, research, investigating, experimenting will bring small pay. But they marry, have families, even while they are at college. In my day, one was thrown out of college for kissing a girl on the campus—but nowadays, it is possible to continue to take courses after one is married. It is a changed world and many parents do not understand what the changes are or what they mean.

The older generation is not a little frightened. It has witnessed the roughness of income tax inspections; it has worried itself sick about hiding dollars under the bed or in a locked box in a bank; it has even moved money to Switzerland.

It has been inordinately money-conscious. The younger generation wants all the things that money will buy but it desires not to sacrifice integrity to get the money. Older folks sometimes say that the youngsters have a "guilt complex."

But it is not a guilt complex at all. It is a sense of social responsibility that has taken hold early in life. It is the kind of responsibility which in the 19th century sent young men and women into settlement houses and later into missions in Asia and Africa and South America. This same sense of social responsibility is affecting large numbers of young people to relate themselves to their age.

In the 1930s, Communism appealed to some. The churches had a wonderful opportunity to attract youth and to offer them a hope of resurrection but they lost their way in the early 50s by trying to find compromises which were discouraging. Youngsters who turned to churches in the 40s turned away in the 50s because they could not find there the sense of resurrection which is what one seeks in religion.

And so now, the youngsters turn not only to science but to knowledge of every kind and it is not unusual to find a youngster today with a head full of book-learning, and who is trying to think out his problems on a broad basis with some philosophic background.

What you read about are juvenile delinquents who are no more dramatic in what they do. They may be noisier but not more interesting. They are the remnants of a decadent age; those whom I have described are the forerunners of the future.

These by the thousands are turned out year after year from our colleges and universities and somehow they make their way into the world—into their world—into jobs in government or in schools or colleges or corporations. They will never be Morgans or Rockefellers or Carnegies but some may be Steinmetzes or Westinghouses or Edisons or even Einsteins. After all, we still have a Rickover and a von Braun in the United States.

The so-called "right to work" laws have been mischievously misrepresented as being a method of "busting" unions or of prohibiting collective bargaining. The truth is that federal laws protect collective bargaining and the unionized shop in which a majority of employes belong to a union. The words "union shop," as used nowadays in labor parlance, mean an all-union shop, and this provides that anyone who refuses to belong to the union or pay dues has to be fired by the employer. The worker may have conscientious objections to joining a labor union but he must do so or, if he doesn't join, he must submit to a tax — the payment of the expenses of the union. He gives up his right to bargain as an individual and, under "union shop" agreements, he must pay a penalty besides in the form of what use is made of the dues. The Georgia court—with a strong hint taken from a recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States to back up the ruling—now says that a man cannot be forced against his will in free America to pay tribute to a political party or to a private organization whose viewpoint he does not share.

Stress In Animals, And Wood For Your Ulcer

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Animals, as well as humans, are confronted with stress. In a conference of the behavioral scientists at Oxford, England, one speaker reported that kids separated from their dams for an hour or two right after birth subsequently suffered a high mortality. The majority died within a year.

Stress among animals was the subject of another research study on factors leading to arteriosclerosis. One school of thought is that high levels of fat in the diet are responsible for this process; another, that there is a combination of factors, including stress.

Findings on captive wild mammals and birds tend to support the latter view. The mammal with the greatest incidence of arteriosclerosis is the agouti, a South American rodent that is a relative of the guinea pig. The second highest incidence of hardening of the arteries in mammals occurs in kangaroos, followed in turn by the American water rat (coypu), bears, and civets. Squirrels have the least.

Birds are worse than mammals in that they have a higher frequency of arteriosclerosis. The larger birds are affected most. The incidence of arteriosclerosis among captive birds and mammals has increased between tenfold and twentyfold during the last 40 years. This cannot be accounted for by diet or age. The blame has been placed on the social pressures brought on by overcrowding in the zoos.

Toxemias of pregnancy are twice as common among obese women as among expectant mothers of normal weight, according to a study done on 100 consecutive women whose weight at one time exceeded 200 pounds. Obese patients gained only 11.5 pounds compared with 13 in the nonoverweight group. Fat women had an excessively prolonged labor in contrast to their more slender counterparts.

A by-product of wood may be a potential ulcer remedy. Dr. T. Lloyd Fletcher of the University of Washington School of Medicine found that in rats, calcium lignin sulfonates reduce gastric acidity and counteract experimental pepic ulcer. Another wood by-product, vanillin, is being utilized in a new test for diabetes. There seems to be no limit to the use of wood.

MORNING KERCHOOS

W. C. R. writes: My 10 year old son sneezes eight to 10 times every morning on getting up. This happens all the year 'round, so it isn't hay fever. He is all right the rest of the day. Have you any suggestions?

REPLY

Sneezing may be due to allergy or to secretions in the nose and throat that are dislodged by change in posture. In some instances, sneezing stems from vasomotor rhinitis. Persons with this condition sneeze on entering an air conditioned room or when sitting in a draft. The fault lies in the membranes of the nasal passageways. Your boy ought to be examined by a nose and throat specialist.

ARTERIOSCLEROSIS

M. Z. writes: Does overeating cause hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

Indirectly, in that arteriosclerosis develops earlier in the obese. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on arteriosclerosis.

SCAR ERADICATION

Mrs. F. writes: Can chicken pox scars on the face be removed?

REPLY

Dermabrasion has been helpful for this purpose provided the scars are not too deep.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

J. R. writes: Is it better to sleep with the head elevated or level?

REPLY

Whichever is more comfortable.

USUALLY NOT SERIOUS

Mrs. N. M. writes: What would cause enlargement of the breasts in a 12 year old boy?

REPLY

Gynecomastia occurs occasionally in adolescent boys and disappears spontaneously. Examination is advised, however, to determine whether the enlargement is a tumor.

ANTIBIOTICS

F. W. writes: What is done today for bronchopneumonia?

REPLY

An attempt is made to find the causative organism so that an appropriate antibiotic can be prescribed. Beyond this, the treatment is the same as for a severe cold.

CYSTIC KIDNEYS

D. G. writes: What is done for a large cyst on a kidney?

REPLY

Surgical removal of the cyst or the kidney may be advised, depending upon the nature of the lesion. Medical treatment is recommended when many cysts are present on both kidneys.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

An English professor saw a colleague from the same department coming his way across the Dartmouth campus and pulled his friend behind the sanctuary of a spreading elm. "I hope Old So-and-So didn't spot us," he whispered fervently. "He'd talk us to death."

The friend chuckled and reminded the prof, "You're not exactly the silent type yourself."

"I know," sighed the professor. "If I saw myself coming, I'm afraid I'd duck out of the way, too!"

The Bond Debacle

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — Something new in "coming out" parties is to be staged in Wall Street.

The Stock Exchange's suspension of George K. Garvin, a leading figure in the debacle in the Government bond market last spring, ends at 3:30 p. m. December 18.

At 4 p. m. on that date — a half hour after the close of business on the Exchange, Garvin is throwing a large cocktail party at the Bankers Club.

Invitations in keeping with the Christmas season have gone out to hundreds of individuals in and out of the financial district to celebrate the occasion.

The Stock Exchange's and the American Stock Exchange's Board of Governors suspended Garvin, senior partner in Garvin, Bantel & Co., money brokers, for three months. The Stock Exchange found him guilty on five charges of practices in violation of its rules, including 5 per cent margins on bonds and failing to keep proper records of customers' accounts.

The Exchange governors fined the other partners in the firm $25,000—$5,000 on each of the charges. The suspension applied only to Garvin, and the firm has continued with its business.

The lightness of the disciplinary action reflects the belief of a majority of the Exchange governors that others, including several of the large banks and corporations, had an equal if not greater responsibility for the activities that contributed to the debacle in the Government bond market.

Other factors in the bond market's collapse were the Federal Reserve's switch in its money policy and bad judgment by the U.S. Treasury in attempting a long term bond issue last June.

The debacle — one of the worst shake-outs in bond market history — cost speculators, business men, banks, corporations and the usual widows and orphans millions of dollars.

It was a $3 billion speculation, and Garvin's firm as a money broker arranged financing for a half billion of this total.

The money came from banks, some of which required no margins, from corporation treasurers and from individuals. It was a "sure thing" — and for some it would have been if they had not been greedy.

The appeal in the speculation was a triple one: A tax escaping gimmick, a "sure thing" gamble for Government bonds had a long record of going to immediate premiums after a new offering, and a "fool proof" way to get more interest income by buying Government bonds on very small or no margin. The Stock Exchange is the only one that requires a margin on Government bond trades, and this is only 5 per cent against now the 90 per cent on stock.

The speculation backfired when some of the "free riders" held onto their new bonds instead of immediately selling them out.

There is not much to celebrate for those caught in the debacle, for the Government bond market has recovered little of its lost ground. We wonder if any of them will accept the invitation.

Cancellations at the Post Office for the first four days of the Christmas mailing season total more than 120,000, according to Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

Despite the total, Conlon said cancellations are well below the number recorded for the first four days of the 1957 season when 177,900 were reported.

On Monday, cancellations numbered 24,100; Tuesday, 27,200; Wednesday, 31,800, and Thursday, 37,800. The postmaster also said that patrons have not taken advantage of the extra window service and expressed the opinion that unless business takes a sharp upswing Christmas mail will run late.

Apparently many residents are unaware of the increase in postage rates which went into effect this past fall. Numerous phone calls have been made as to the required postage on Yuletide cards.

Conlon said four-cent stamps are required on all sealed cards and letters, while three-cent stamps must be placed on unsealed letters.

The parcel post situation is rather muddled, Postmaster Conlon said, explaining that incoming parcels are arriving in a heavier volume than during the same period last year, while outgoing parcels are below the 1957 total.

Window services will be available to patrons from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and from noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Similar parcel post, stamp and general delivery services are in effect at Station A in South Cumberland and the LaVale Branch Office, while an annex of the LaVale Branch in the LaVale Fire Hall will be open to 6 p. m. today and from noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The postmaster urges residents to get their Christmas mailing done as early as possible to insure delivery before December 25. Extra employes will be hired as they are needed, Conlon said, so the flow of mail and parcel post can be uninterrupted.

The bus and truck hauling of mail from and to eastern points has already proved its worth, with Conlon explaining that the new services help keep the mail from piling up while waiting for transportation.

Child Who Wrote Stories Is Victim Of Leukemia

Michael Patrick Rollins, 8, died Thursday at his home in Marion, Ohio, a victim of leukemia, but not before his dream of becoming a writer and seeing his stories published came true.

Michael was the son of James Edward and Betty (Lininger) Rollins, formerly of Westernport. His paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rollins Sr., reside at 320 Furnace Street, city, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lininger, at Westernport.

The Associated Press, along with hundreds of newspapers across the land, printed one of Mike's stories Monday.

"To have other people know you wrote it and know other people are reading it — it's a pretty good feeling," he said.

Mike saw only an edition of a Columbus, Ohio, paper which carried two of his stories, along with a resume of his writing career. He didn't see a later edition which told of his having leukemia—cancer of the blood — and that he only had a short time to live.

The 8-year-old died Thursday never knowing he had leukemia.

"We made certain he never found out," said his father, of 300 Summit Street, Marion. "Mike had a rough enough time as it was."

When nearly 1,000 letters poured in to Children's Hospital congratulating Mike on his stories, "it was the most wonderful thing that ever happened to him" his father said.

Michael was born January 27, 1950. Others surviving are four brothers, James, John, Timothy and Paul; and a sister, Mary Elizabeth, all at home.

Services will be held Monday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Marion, with interment in the church cemetery.

Pension Aid Being Sought By Teachers

Representatives of Allegany County Teacher's Association met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to discuss a $600 supplemental pension for teachers who retire after July 1 of next year.

Homer S. Higgins, chairman of the legislative committee of the association, told the board that the supplemental pension program was approved last year by the board in a resolution but could not be enacted as legislation was needed. As the General Assembly was meeting only for 30 days the legislation could not be brought up at that time.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said that he had been in favor of the added pension at that time, and was still of that opinion. Commissioners John J. Rowan and John Tucker Mason, who took office last week, asked for additional time to think the matter over.

Both Rowan and Mason indicated they are in agreement with the idea behind the proposal but would like time to study the measure. A meeting of the two Democratic commissioners will be held next Monday at 10 a. m. at the Board of Education office with Higgins, Richard T. Rizer and Dr. W. Ardell Haines, the other association representatives, to go over the entire plan.

A decision will be made by the county board at next Tuesday's meeting.

It was brought out that the teachers who are at retirement age are earning the top salaries and with the extra pension money they could afford to retire. The retirement of these teachers, who would not exceed 10, would result in saving several thousand dollars each as their replacements would be in the lower salary brackets, Higgins pointed out.

Commissioner Wilson pointed out that it had been agreed last year that in the event the state provided a supplemental pension plan for the teachers at some future date the county would drop its contribution. This was again agreed upon yesterday.

Mental Tests Discussed By Commissioners

The problem created by the transfer of persons from the city jail and other lockups in the county to Sylvan Retreat for mental examinations took up some time at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

It had been brought to the attention of the board that many of these persons were men taken into custody and later upon examination for possible mental illness were then found to be suffering from the DTs.

Raymond Messmer, superintendent of the institution, said the men are brought to the establishment and are admitted on warrants signed by magistrates. The county then must pay for the two doctors who give them the mental tests.

Messmer said that he is powerless to stop their admittance as they are covered by the warrants.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said a meeting should be held with the various magistrates and other officials of police units in the county to determine if the problem could be solved.

Leslie Clark, attorney to the board, gave each commissioner a memorandum in which the law governing the admittance of these persons under warrant is outlined.

His opinion follows:

"The County Commissioners of Allegany County shall provide a suitable place at Sylvan Retreat, for the detention of any person in Allegany County awaiting adjudication as possibly being a lunatic or insane person under the provisions of this subtitle. Any such person shall be held in the place of detention provided during the time he or she is awaiting examination and adjudication.

"It it my opinion that under the above section any person suspected of being insane or mentally disturbed comes within the category, 'as possibly being a lunatic or insane person' and accordingly may be detained at the Sylvan Retreat while awaiting examination and adjudication. I do not feel that this covers the category of people in various stages of intoxication, but should be restricted strictly to mental cases."

City Gets Many Inquiries On Engineering Position

For the first time, the Civil Service Commission has waived residency requirements.

This plus the fact the city advertised in a national engineering magazine has brought inquiries from Stroudsburg, Pa., Moorhead, Ky.; Mexico, Mo.; Baltimore; Augusta, Me.; Collingswood, N. J.; a placement agency in Buffalo, N. Y.; and several from local residents.

The commission can not say if those inquiring are eligible since it did not include all requirements in the advertisement. However, it is following up by sending applications to those interested plus requirements for filling the position. Any qualified person up to 50 years of age is eligible.

Deadline for applications is Monday and the commission tentatively plans to meet to review applications and possibly set a date for the examination. An examination time will be considered also for the positions of clerk-typist in the Water Department and for promotion to chief clerk in the Water Department.

Some time ago, the Mayor and Council said it would be desirable to have two assistant city engineers in view of the present crush of work in that department plus the prospect of even more in the years ahead.

The examinations would establish an eligible list from which to draw when and if the city decides to hire one or more assistants.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Arthur Freed is just back from New York where he talked with Frederick Loewe about a musical to be written by Alan J. Lerner and Loewe next year. The new motion picture, Arthur says, will probably not be a period piece as was "My Fair Lady" (Edwardian period) and "Gigi", with turn of the century costumes and settings.

Although Arthur says it's only in the talking stage, the 1959 musical will be up to date and modern. He has "Bells Are Ringing" coming up this spring, so the new epic won't be made until late next year.

Arthur told me that he doesn't believe that Lerner and Loewe sold their rights to "My Fair Lady" for the 3-million dollars offered them. As for "Gigi", it's one of the most successful pictures MGM has ever made and the Maurice Chevalier tunes are sung by young and old.

My old friend Charlie Winninger telephoned me about "The Miracle of the White Reindeer," which he made for Martin Nosseck. "It's going to be released at Christmas," said Charlie. "It's the story of two little children who go searching for a reindeer for Santa Claus. They find one in the zoo. I am the keeper of the zoo. Murphy, the chimpanzee, plays a role, too."

My friendship with Charlie goes back to when I was sweet fifteen in Dixon, Ill., when he and his brothers appeared in the Dixon opera house. This play was the first ever covered. It was a Confederate story and both Charlie and I racked our brains but couldn't remember the name. It was my vacation from school and I thought I was a big time reporter.

Youthful Russ Tamblyn, who is stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., and has a year and four months to go on his Army stint, said he had had 20 days leave and is now on his way back to camp. "Everybody said to me, 'have you been sent over the hill?', when they saw me. What they didn't know is that every soldier is allowed 30 days."

Russ said he worked on his 20 days and went to Washington, other eastern states and San Francisco to plug his latest picture, "Tom Thumb." I asked him if he would be doing any entertaining during his year and four months. He said he didn't know, that he wanted to do whatever the Army brass wanted him to, which is very sensible.

Come mid-February, Lindsay Crosby, Bing's youngest, will change his uniform for civilian garb. He has been offered the identical deal by 20th Century-Fox that was given his older brother, Gary, namely two pictures a year for five years.

The 20-year-old No. 4 son of the Crosby clan also has other professional irons in the fire, such as an RCA-Victor recording contract, and one of those tours to state fairs around the country next summer.

On the romantic side he's dating Molly Bee and he couldn't date a nicer girl. She's one of the nicest of the younger crowd.

This has been a terrible month for Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis. Their three-weeks-old baby daughter, Jamie, had to undergo surgery for double hernia a week ago. But Janet said her doctor told her it was fortunate they had discovered it while the baby was so young. Thank heaven, she's all right now.

Then, of course, Tony lost his father, and Janet has been sick with a bad cold and hasn't been able to go near the baby. She and Tony plan to go to Miami after the first of the year to plug their picture, "The Perfect Furlough".

I am very proud of the citizens of my former hometown, Chicago, for the magnificent effort they are making in a big benefit Dec. 16 for those 33 children still in the hospitals from the disastrous school fire. Some of these children must undergo costly plastic surgery, others will need artificial limbs and many require psychiatric care.

So many Chicago leaders are sponsoring the Angels' children benefit fund dinner show, a $100 per plate dinner and show at the Ambassador West Hotel. Contributions are being solicited to be made out directly to the Continental Illinois Bank, Chicago 90. This is a charity, a heartbreaking call for help, that should be heeded if possible.

Cancellations at the Post Office for the first four days of the Christmas mailing season total more than 120,000, according to Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

Despite the total, Conlon said cancellations are well below the number recorded for the first four days of the 1957 season when 177,900 were reported.

On Monday, cancellations numbered 24,100; Tuesday, 27,200; Wednesday, 31,800, and Thursday, 37,800. The postmaster also said that patrons have not taken advantage of the extra window service and expressed the opinion that unless business takes a sharp upswing Christmas mail will run late.

Apparently many residents are unaware of the increase in postage rates which went into effect this past fall. Numerous phone calls have been made as to the required postage on Yuletide cards.

Conion said four-cent stamps are required on all sealed cards and letters, while three-cent stamps must be placed on unsealed letters.

The parcel post situation is rather muddled, Postmaster Conlon said, explaining that incoming parcels are arriving in a heavier volume than during the same period last year, while outgoing parcels are below the 1957 total.

Window services will be available to patrons from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and from noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Similar parcel post, stamp and general delivery services are in effect at Station A in South Cumberland and the LaVale Branch Office, while an annex of the LaVale Branch in the LaVale Fire Hall will be open to 6 p. m. today and from noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The postmaster urges residents to get their Christmas mailing done as early as possible to insure delivery before December 25. Extra employes will be hired as they are needed, Conlon said, so the flow of mail and parcel post can be uninterrupted.

The bus and truck hauling of mail from and to eastern points has already proved its worth, with Conlon explaining that the new services help keep the mail from piling up while waiting for transportation.

Child Who Wrote Stories Is Victim Of Leukemia

Michael Patrick Rollins, 8, died Thursday at his home in Marion, Ohio, a victim of leukemia, but not before his dream of becoming a writer and seeing his stories published came true.

Michael was the son of James Edward and Betty (Lininger) Rollins, formerly of Westernport. His paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rollins Sr., reside at 320 Furnace Street, city, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lininger, at Westernport.

The Associated Press, along with hundreds of newspapers across the land, printed one of Mike's stories Monday.

"To have other people know you wrote it and know other people are reading it — it's a pretty good feeling," he said.

Mike saw only an edition of a Columbus, Ohio, paper which carried two of his stories, along with a resume of his writing career. He didn't see a later edition which told of his having leukemia—cancer of the blood — and that he only had a short time to live.

The 8-year-old died Thursday never knowing he had leukemia.

"We made certain he never found out," said his father, of 300 Summit Street, Marion. "Mike had a rough enough time as it was."

When nearly 1,000 letters poured in to Children's Hospital congratulating Mike on his stories, "it was the most wonderful thing that ever happened to him" his father said.

Michael was born January 27, 1950. Others surviving are four brothers, James, John, Timothy and Paul; and a sister, Mary Elizabeth, all at home.

Services will be held Monday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Marion, with interment in the church cemetery.

Pension Aid Being Sought By Teachers

Representatives of Allegany County Teacher's Association met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to discuss a $600 supplemental pension for teachers who retire after July 1 of next year.

Homer S. Higgins, chairman of the legislative committee of the association, told the board that the supplemental pension program was approved last year by the board in a resolution but could not be enacted as legislation was needed. As the General Assembly was meeting only for 30 days the legislation could not be brought up at that time.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said that he had been in favor of the added pension at that time, and was still of that opinion. Commissioners John J. Rowan and John Tucker Mason, who took office last week, asked for additional time to think the matter over.

Both Rowan and Mason indicated they are in agreement with the idea behind the proposal but would like time to study the measure. A meeting of the two Democratic commissioners will be held next Monday at 10 a. m. at the Board of Education office with Higgins, Richard T. Rizer and Dr. W. Ardell Haines, the other association representatives, to go over the entire plan.

A decision will be made by the county board at next Tuesday's meeting.

It was brought out that the teachers who are at retirement age are earning the top salaries and with the extra pension money they could afford to retire. The retirement of these teachers, who would not exceed 10, would result in saving several thousand dollars each as their replacements would be in the lower salary brackets, Higgins pointed out.

Commissioner Wilson pointed out that it had been agreed last year that in the event the state provided a supplemental pension plan for the teachers at some future date the county would drop its contribution. This was again agreed upon yesterday.

Mental Tests Discussed By Commissioners

The problem created by the transfer of persons from the city jail and other lockups in the county to Sylvan Retreat for mental examinations took up some time at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

It had been brought to the attention of the board that many of these persons were men taken into custody and later upon examination for possible mental illness were then found to be suffering from the DTs.

Raymond Messmer, superintendent of the institution, said the men are brought to the establishment and are admitted on warrants signed by magistrates. The county then must pay for the two doctors who give them the mental tests.

Messmer said that he is powerless to stop their admittance as they are covered by the warrants.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said a meeting should be held with the various magistrates and other officials of police units in the county to determine if the problem could be solved.

Leslie Clark, attorney to the board, gave each commissioner a memorandum in which the law governing the admittance of these persons under warrant is outlined.

"The County Commissioners of Allegany County shall provide a suitable place at Sylvan Retreat, for the detention of any person in Allegany County awaiting adjudication as possibly being a lunatic or insane person under the provisions of this subtitle. Any such person shall be held in the place of detention provided during the time he or she is awaiting examination and adjudication.

"It it my opinion that under the above section any person suspected of being insane or mentally disturbed comes within the category, 'as possibly being a lunatic or insane person' and accordingly may be detained at the Sylvan Retreat while awaiting examination and adjudication. I do not feel that this covers the category of people in various stages of intoxication, but should be restricted strictly to mental cases."

Howard Spiker Heads Real Estate Board

Other officers are J. Henry Holzshu, vice president; Bert J. Graham, secretary, and David P. Goodfellow, treasurer.

Spiker succeeds Dennis A. Perrin as president. He said committee appointments will be made at the January meeting.

City Gets Many Inquiries On Engineering Position

This plus the fact the city advertised in a national engineering magazine has brought inquiries from Stroudsburg, Pa., Moorhead, Ky.; Mexico, Mo.; Baltimore; Augusta, Me.; Collingswood, N. J.; a placement agency in Buffalo, N. Y.; and several from local residents.

The commission can not say if those inquiring are eligible since it did not include all requirements in the advertisement. However, it is following up by sending applications to those interested plus requirements for filling the position. Any qualified person up to 50 years of age is eligible.

Deadline for applications is Monday and the commission tentatively plans to meet to review applications and possibly set a date for the examination. An examination time will be considered also for the positions of clerk-typist in the Water Department and for promotion to chief clerk in the Water Department.

Some time ago, the Mayor and Council said it would be desirable to have two assistant city engineers in view of the present crush of work in that department plus the prospect of even more in the years ahead.

The examinations would establish an eligible list from which to draw when and if the city decides to hire one or more assistants.

Pinto Church To Hold Christmas Cantata

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Arthur Freed is just back from New York where he talked with Frederick Loewe about a musical to be written by Alan J. Lerner and Loewe next year. The new motion picture, Arthur says, will probably not be a period piece as was "My Fair Lady" (Edwardian period) and "Gigi", with turn of the century costumes and settings.

Although Arthur says it's only in the talking stage, the 1959 musical will be up to date and modern. He has "Bells Are Ringing" coming up this spring, so the new epic won't be made until late next year.

Arthur told me that he doesn't believe that Lerner and Loewe sold their rights to "My Fair Lady" for the 3-million dollars offered them. As for "Gigi", it's one of the most successful pictures MGM has ever made and the Maurice Chevalier tunes are sung by young and old.

My old friend Charlie Winninger telephoned me about "The Miracle of the White Reindeer," which he made for Martin Nosseck. "It's going to be released at Christmas," said Charlie. "It's the story of two little children who go searching for a reindeer for Santa Claus. They find one in the zoo. I am the keeper of the zoo. Murphy, the chimpanzee, plays a role, too."

My friendship with Charlie goes back to when I was sweet fifteen in Dixon, Ill., when he and his brothers appeared in the Dixon opera house. This play was the first ever covered. It was a Confederate story and both Charlie and I racked our brains but couldn't remember the name. It was my vacation from school and I thought I was a big time reporter.

Youthful Russ Tamblyn, who is stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla., and has a year and four months to go on his Army stint, said he had had 20 days leave and is now on his way back to camp. "Everybody said to me, 'have you been sent over the hill?', when they saw me. What they didn't know is that every soldier is allowed 30 days."

Russ said he worked on his 20 days and went to Washington, other eastern states and San Francisco to plug his latest picture, "Tom Thumb." I asked him if he would be doing any entertaining during his year and four months. He said he didn't know, that he wanted to do whatever the Army brass wanted him to, which is very sensible.

Come mid-February, Lindsay Crosby, Bing's youngest, will change his uniform for civilian garb. He has been offered the identical deal by 20th Century-Fox that was given his older brother, Gary, namely two pictures a year for five years.

The 20-year-old No. 4 son of the Crosby clan also has other professional irons in the fire, such as an RCA-Victor recording contract, and one of those tours to state fairs around the country next summer.

On the romantic side he's dating Molly Bee and he couldn't date a nicer girl. She's one of the nicest of the younger crowd.

This has been a terrible month for Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis. Their three-weeks-old baby daughter, Jamie, had to undergo surgery for double hernia a week ago. But Janet said her doctor told her it was fortunate they had discovered it while the baby was so young. Thank heaven, she's all right now.

Then, of course, Tony lost his father, and Janet has been sick with a bad cold and hasn't been able to go near the baby. She and Tony plan to go to Miami after the first of the year to plug their picture, "The Perfect Furlough".

I am very proud of the citizens of my former hometown, Chicago, for the magnificent effort they are making in a big benefit Dec. 16 for those 33 children still in the hospitals from the disastrous school fire. Some of these children must undergo costly plastic surgery, others will need artificial limbs and many require psychiatric care.

So many Chicago leaders are sponsoring the Angels' children benefit fund dinner show, a $100 per plate dinner and show at the Ambassador West Hotel. Contributions are being solicited to be made out directly to the Continental Illinois Bank, Chicago 90. This is a charity, a heartbreaking call for help, that should be heeded if possible.

Lake Itasca in northern Minnesota, is the source of the Mississippi River, whcih empties into the Gulf of Mexico.

MY USED CAR CREED

"When I sell NEW automobiles I act chiefly as a retailer, selling merchandise that bears another name and reputation.

"But when I sell USED cars, I take on some of the responsibility of a manufacturer.

"The various USED CARS that I sell are no longer warranted by the several original makers. In effect, they bear MY NAME.

"I expect to succeed as a merchant of re-conditioned USED CARS with the honesty of my products and my methods.

"I can't afford to jeopardize my reputation by selling merchandise I cannot offer with pride and confidence.

"My cars must be honestly reconditioned to give me the benefit of a product that will be easy to sell and will create the right kind of word-of-mouth advertising."

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains closed rather weak to steady Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅛ to off 1 cent; corn (old) off ⅝ to 1 cent; (new) off ½ to 1 cent; oats unchanged to off ⅜ cent; rye unchanged to up ½ cent; soybeans up ⅛ to 1½ cents.

Berlin and winter weather kept the attention of traders during the session. Periodic rallies never gained much headway.

December wheat was under more liquidation after large tenders were posted. Prices climbed a trifle as spreaders took considerable quantities of the contract. March was sold.

Prices tailspinned in corn with December falling hard. There was some talk that industries bought Iowa corn. Cash trade was also weak. Commercial demand fell from its recent high volume.

Oats dipped in sympathy with corn. Cash houses bought March and exporters purchased May. Commission house selling was mixed.

Retail Liquor Dealers Want Longer Hours

Charge Clubs Violating Law

Allegany County Licensed Beverage Association asked the Allegany County Delegation last night to amend the county liquor law to extend hours of sale from midnight to 1 a.m. except Saturday, and to continue the ban of sales on Sunday.

They specifically charged that competition from out of state operators on weekdays and from local clubs on Sunday makes it difficult to operate business profitably and economically.

John M. Robb, attorney for the Allegany County Licensed Beverage Association, presented the retail beer and liquor dealers' problems at a formal hearing before the county's legislators, all of whom were present. About 15 members of the association attended and each member identified himself.

Mr Robb said the licensed operators request the delegation to amend the county liquor laws to provide for sales until 1 a.m. on weekdays, except Saturday, with an hour to clear tables. He explained that present law requires closing at midnight with an hour to clear tables.

Says Law Inconsistent

The law is inconsistent, Mr. Robb said, because an hour clean-up time is allowed every night except Saturday, when the law specifically says that sales must end at midnight and in another section it says that tables must be clear by 11:45 p.m.

In a three-page report, presented and read by Casper Taylor Jr. for the legislative committee of the association, the problem is set forth in considerable detail.

Mr. Taylor explained that his group represents the retail liquor business and requests two specific changes in the law. These would be a change in hours of operation, or 1 a.m. closing on weekdays, and midnight closing on Saturday; and a minimum Fair Trade Law to protect package stores.

On the Fair Trade law, he stated that such a bill is being prepared on a state-wide level and he urged the local delegation to support it.

Cites Out-State Competition

Mr. Taylor and others who spoke after him cited the peculiar geographical location of Cumberland and Allegany County, with West Virginia on the south and Pennsylvania on the north. In both these areas, beer and alcoholic beverages are obtainable after bars close here, and each night hundreds of people drive either northward or southward to spend an additional hour or two drinking and being entertained. The county and the state, they emphasized, lose considerable tax revenue, and local business people lose the income.

An additional hour of operation would mean more employment adding to the county's payroll, and would mean greater tax revenue here, the liquor dealers contend.

Peter Lukas, who manages Clarysville Inn, cited the safety factor involved in the early closing hour here. He said that on Friday and Saturday night when dances are held at Clarysville, some 200 to 300 cars leave the parking lot. A check on several occasions shows that 60 per cent or more of them are driving to nearby taverns and establishments in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, for another hour.

Mr. Lukas said that in the time he has been here, he has noted that a great many of the auto accidents where people have been injured or killed have involved people going to or from West Virginia or Pennsylvania night spots.

Opposed To Sunday Sales

Speaking for the package stores, the report cites:

"Clubs sell on Sunday, the Sabbath Day. We are against this. There should be no liquor sold on Sunday in any county. Clubs can hide much of this activity, which is unfair to us, since the law governing us forces us to maintain glass openings making our bars visible from the street at all times.

In many instances club managers and trustees make their livelihood from business that does not even have to pay income tax. Many clubs further violate this tax exemption by openly soliciting the business of the general public. We pay income tax on top of more taxes than exist in any other retail or manufacturing business in the nation.

Charles Ritter, who operates a neighborhood tavern on Paca Street, urged the delegation to

Weekend Snow Is Expected

Cold Weather To Continue

Cold weather is forecast today — which is nothing unusual.

Cloudy and cold weather with temperatures from 15 to 20 degrees above zero is promised in Western Maryland. And there is a chance of snow today or tomorrow.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer here, said last night that a high pressure area from the north was pushing snow in this direction, although the snow may not reach this far.

He said the official low temperature yesterday was four degrees above zero, and it was the second day in a row the temperature dipped to the four-degree mark.

The official high yesterday was 26 and a similar reading was "hanging on" last night. Unofficially the temperature in downtown Cumberland last night hovered around the 30-degree mark. During the afternoon the temperature reached the freezing mark.

It was clear and cold in Garrett County last night. During the afternoon the mercury reached 28, according to one report, which indicated that there was no snow falling.

Oakland reported the temperature dipped to two degrees below zero during the night yesterday. Accident had six above; Town Hill, zero; LaVale, three, and Cumberland, four.

Southern Maryland and the lower Eastern Shore shivered under a layer of up to eight inches of snow Friday, while the rest of the state braced itself for a sample of the same during the weekend.

The Weather Bureau forecast cloudy and cold for Saturday with snow flurries in the extreme west. Snow will continue in the west Sunday and is likely in the rest of the state, the bureau said.

Any snow the state gets during the weekend is due out of the west, unlike the surprise storm which swept up the Atlantic coast Thursday night and hit only the southern and eastern areas.

Mrs. Stimler, who has operated the wrapping booth for several years, will be on duty from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day to gift-wrap items for Christmas mailing. The Salvation Army also maintains a booth at the Station A Post Office in South Cumberland, under management of Mrs. Mary Strawderman.

Taylor To Face Federal Jury In Theft Of Autos

James Douglas Taylor, 24, of Frostburg, was arraigned here yesterday before U.S. Commissioner James A. Avirett on charges of the theft of a motor vehicle in interstate commerce.

He was taken to Allegany County Jail in default of $1,000 bond and will await the arrival of a U.S. marshal from Baltimore for action of a federal grand jury.

The charges were brought against Taylor by the local FBI agent who appeared at the arraignment, along with City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van.

In a statement to Van, the Frostburg man admitted stealing the two cars during the past couple of days. They belong to Ernie Schramm of 620 Greene Street, city, and Lester C. String, of Baltimore.

Police said Taylor admitted taking Mr. Schramm's car on Wednesday and wrecked it near Moorefield, W.Va. While hitchiking a ride in that vicinity, Taylor was picked up by Mr. String, who said the hitchhiker told him he had a gun and wanted String's car.

After giving him the car, Mr. String notified police of West Virginia, who gave a description of the car to Maryland State Police.

Delegates Meet With Judge

State Senator Charles M. See and the six members of the County Delegation to the House of Delegates met for about an hour yesterday afternoon with Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in the latter's office at the Court House.

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the delegation, said that the discussions involved certain changes in the operations of the court. Judge Harris said it was an off-the-record meeting and any changes agreed upon will be the subject for subsequent legislation in Annapolis

Judge Harris has been Allegany County's lone Circuit Court judge since the retirement of Judge George Henderson on March 17.

J. T. Mason's Cow Turns Out To Be Winner Too

November was good to John T. Mason of Cresaptown in several ways.

He was elected to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners on November 4, one of four Democrats to upset tradition in this county. The monthly report of Potomac Valley Herd Improvement Association now shows that he had the top butterfat producer in the association for November.

No. 52, one of Mr. Mason's grade Holsteins, had 93 pounds of butterfat in 1,930 pounds of November milk. His cows also placed fourth and seventh among the association's top ten producers for the month. No other owner had more than one cow on the honor roll.

Other owners on the list were Samuel L. Pinto, RFD 1, Ridgeley; Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa.; Fred C. Siple, Fort Ashby, W. Va.; Chelsie A. Liller, Cresaptown; William A. Moore, Mt. Savage; Harry J. Barton, Pinto, and Carl Howsare, Bedford Valley, Pa.

During November 990 cows were on test. Their average production was 643 pounds of milk, 26.7 pounds of butterfat, 4.15 per cent butterfat.

The high herd for the month of November was that of Mr. Siple. His 17 cows averaged 853 pounds of milk, 38.1 pounds of butterfat and 4.46 per cent butterfat.

Eight of the ten top producers were Holsteins. One Ayrshire and one Guernsey also were listed.

PPG Pact Negotiations Will Resume

Conciliator Calls Meeting Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Union and management representatives will resume negotiations Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Cincinnati in efforts to end a 68-day glassworkers' strike at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plants across the nation.

The announcement was made here Friday by Federal Mediator Ayward J. Montoney, who will participate in the sessions. Montoney was an observer at previous meetings held in Miami, Fla., Cleveland and Louisville.

The strike began Oct. 6 at PPG and spread to the Libbey-Owen-Ford Co. the next day. The LOF strike ended late that same month. On Oct. 30, PPG officials and representatives of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union of North America met in Louisville, but efforts to negotiate a new contract ended in a deadlock. No talks have been held since then.

PPG employs about 13,000 in 11 plants throughout the United States.

Principal stumbling block to a contract settlement is the reclassification of workers' duties.

Church Notices For Christmas Due Tuesday

All church news concerning services or programs on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day must be in the office of the Times-News not later than 1 p. m. Tuesday, December 16 in order to assure publication.

So as to avoid confusion news items and church notices should be marked "Christmas Services."

There is no change in deadline for church notices of Sunday, December 21. To be included on the regular Saturday page, they must be in the Times-News office no later than 11 p. m. Thursday, December 18.

Higher Burial Fee Is Sought

Representatives of county funeral directors last night asked the Allegany County Delegation for legislation to increase the burial allowances for the indigent to $250.

John J. Hafer, spokesman for the group, said a local bill is being prepared and will be submitted to the Delegation.

Under current laws, Delegate Estel C. Kelley, said, blind people get a $150 burial allowance and welfare people $100.

The bill granting the larger sum to blind people passed, Senator Charles M. See said, while a bill for others died in the Assembly.

Mr. Hafer pointed out that according to state law the State Anatomical Board should be called when an indigent person or one on relief dies, and has the right to claim the body.

Only about six persons were buried by the county last year, it was reported.

The funeral directors said the present allowances do not cover costs.

Coal Weight Complaints To Be Checked

State's Attorney James S. Getty said yesterday that his office will prosecute each case of short coal weight brought to its attention.

A number of complaints have been received, he said, involving shortages of weight in coal deliveries.

The latest report was received yesterday from a Cumberland citizen who told police he did not believe he got a full ton of coal.

Mr. Getty said the man failed to get a city weigh bill and placed the load in a shed with other coal, so it was impossible to make an accurate check.

He added the trucker will be questioned in connection with the sale made without a city weigh bill.

Coal sold in the City of Cumberland, he said, must be weighed on the city scales and the law requires that a truck used to haul coal be weighed empty 24 hours before.

Coal sold to industrial plants are not required to use the city scales.

Officials said County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya has called a number of haulers into the office in connection with weight complaints.

Wilkinson Gets Suspended Term

A 21-year-old local man brought back here to face a breaking and entering charge yesterday pleaded guilty before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris to a charge of petty larceny.

Leroy Edward Wilkinson, Hagerstown and San Francisco, received a suspended sentence of one year in the House of Correction after Judge Harris accepted the plea on a lesser charge.

Wilkinson was brought back here recently after he completed a term in the Reformatory for Males.

Following the hearing, he was returned to the Allegany County Jail, which is holding him on Bedford County, Pa., warrants charging forgery and burglary.

Board Questions Magistrate's Expenses

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday questioned two items in the bill submitted by Carl W. Shaffer, Westernport trial magistrate.

The commissioners said they could not understand why Mr. Shaffer was requesting $7.59 for prisoners' food. If they were county prisoners they should have been in the County Jail, the commissioners said. If they were town prisoners, the Town of Westernport should be responsible.

There also was a $5 item for cleaning the court room which the commissioners would like explained.

Board Denies Rish Company Use Permit

LaVale Group Files Decision

The LaVale Zoning Board has just filed its first opinion, denying an application for a use and occupancy permit in Election District 29.

Board members C. A. Lancaster and Leslie J. Clark this week filed an opinion rejecting the application of the Rish Equipment Company of Bluefield, W. Va., for a use and occupancy permit for the sale and service of heavy duty construction equipment at 926 National Highway in LaVale.

This property is owned by Harry E. Lucas and Dorothy E. Lucas, his wife, who are conducting a trucking, automobile sales and repair business at the location. They were issued a certificate of non-conforming use by the LaVale Zoning Board September 3.

Business Differs

In reaching its decision the board found that the business proposed by the Rish Equipment Company is a different type of business from that now being conducted on the premises by Mr. Lucas. The zoning regulations for LaVale stipulate that no non-conforming building, structure or use may be changed to another non-conforming use.

The zoning board emphasized in its decision that it cannot take into consideration whether the granting or refusal of this permit will increase or decrease employment in the Cumberland area.

"The purpose of zoning is to devote general areas or districts to selected uses and thereby promote the orderly development of the community," they write.

"The essence of zoing is territorial division according to the character of the land and the buildings, their suitability for particular uses and uniformity within the zone. Non-conforming uses such as Mr. Lucas' business are tolerated under general zoning law with the look to their ultimate elimination, so that there will be conformity with the other uses permitted in the area."

In its opinion, the LaVale Zoning Board states that the Rish Company proposed to use the location for the sale and service of heavy duty construction equipment, storage of repair parts to service construction equipment in the Cumberland area and to stock and sell repair parts.

The company also proposed to display and sell used and reconstructed heavy duty construction equipment on the premises. Equipment to be sold would have consisted of trailers, front loaders, graders, compressors, pumps, bulldozers, tractors, air hammers, payloaders, rollers and truck cranes and other miscellaneous equipment.

$500,000 Business

The Rish firm expected to do an annual volume of $500,000 to $700,000 in business at this location, mostly in the sale of parts. The maximum weight of equipment to be handled is approximately 52,000 pounds. The zoning board figured that the facilities at the present time are not capable of the repair of heavy duty construction equipment.

A public hearing on the Rish application was held at the LaVale Fire Hall on October 31. At that time John J. Rowan also was a member of the zoning board. He resigned December 1, the day before assuming the presidency of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. No successor to him has been named by the county commissioners, who hold the appointing power.

Ten individuals appeared at the October 31 hearing to protest the issuance of the permit. They included Bert J. Mason, Samuel Artz, Arnold Arnone, Raymond Ogden, R. B. MacBeth, Margaret Horning, Hays Chambers, Alfred Benna, Ronald Palmer and S. F. Carl.

The business at 926 National Highway is in a Commercial A zone, which is a zone set up for retail businesses, trades, services and professions supplying the need for local residential communities.

Pact Report Meetings Set In Covington

Decline Comment On Luke Action

COVINGTON, Va. (AP) — The officers of a paperworkers union local at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. here say they will hold meetings in the near future to decide what to do about a new contract with the company.

They declined comment on the action of the local at Luke, Md., in voting to accept the firm's latest contract offer. But they issued a statement saying the local's committee "as always will take their instructions from the majority of Local 675 (of the United Papermakers Union) to determine what course of action to take in view of Luke's Local 676 vote to ratify the company's offer.

"Special meetings will be set in the near future so the membership can decide this question."

Workers at the plant here, in Luke and in Williamsburg, Pa., have stayed on the job under provisions of the old contract, which expired Nov. 17. Negotiations on a new pact broke off last Friday and the union said the company's latest offer would be submitted to the employes.

The offer includes a general wage increase of 4-11 cents an hour, three weeks vacation after 10 years and an improved insurance plan.

Construction Worker Killed In Car Crash

The victim was Joseph F. Scholl, 47, of 203 Vine Street, West Newton, Pa. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital shortly after the accident that occurred at 12:45 a. m.

A passenger in the car, Eva Louise Shanholtz, 43, of Bedford Road, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital and is reported in fair condition, according to Trooper Carlton Lewis who investigated.

Trooper Lewis said the woman suffered a four-inch laceration of the forehead, laceration of the scalp, multiple cuts and abrasions of both legs and undetermined back injuries.

The trooper said Scholl was driving east on the highway at an apparent high rate of speed. The 1958 model auto he was operating went off the south side of the road, into a drainage ditch, following it for 75 yards.

The car then jumped a concrete culvert, throwing Scholl out. The woman stayed in the auto which continued another 30 yards along the ditch before coming to a stop against an embankment.

Scholl was construction superintendent on the remodeling and expansion of the G. C. Murphy Company building here. He had been an employe of the Murphy firm since 1946.

He was born August 11, 1911, in West Newton. He is survived by his parents, Jasper T. and Edith (Hoy) Scholl of West Newton; his widow, Mrs. Eleanor (Brown) Scholl, and a son, Jack Scholl, all of West Newton.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church at West Newton.

The body is at the Culler Funeral Home in West Newton. Services will be held there Monday afternoon and interment will be in West Newton Cemetery.

County Board Asks Study Of Exemption Laws

Cites Lowering Of Assessable Base

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners last night asked the Allegany County Delegation to study present tax exemption laws in the light of this county's decreasing tax base.

Spokesman for the board was Leslie J. Clark, attorney, who first urged that the county commissioners be advised on all legislation affecting the county, and particularly bills which involve money.

Mr. Clark said the county faces a decreasing tax base and increases in costs and that the board wants to keep the tax rate at its present level.

As Part 1 of the county legislative program, he suggested that the present local law requiring that all contracts and purchases exceeding $1,000 must be advertised should be amended, so if there is only one bid or none, the board can award a contract to a responsible party.

Would Solve Problem

Mr. Clark said legislation should also provide for the awarding of professional work, where bidding is not considered ethical.

Legislation or a declaratory decree from the courts, he said, are the only solutions to the situation facing the county in connection with the Georges Creek sewage survey ordered by the State Board of Health.

The board, through Mr. Clark, said the exemptions for new industries, exemptions on expansion of existing industries and the tax exemption to property owners who are over 65 and have less than $100 a month income should be studied.

He said the board believes the law on exemptions for the aged is being abused and that the amount of exemption should be restricted.

To Combine Jobs

On the county's Classified Service bill, the board pointed out that a job cannot be abolished.

Mr. Clark said the board feels it should be able to abolish a job for economic reasons, or to consolidate jobs.

He said the board is not interested in political maneuvering, but that present law freezes a person in his job for life.

The board, Mr. Clark said, must consolidate some jobs to save money.

Reviews Laws

Mr. Clark asked Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments, for a talk on the county's assessable base.

The county, he said, is being hard ridden by exemption laws and should have a broadening, not a narrowing tax base, when the burden is so heavy.

He said the first step was legislation exempting fraternal and similar organizations from taxes.

The next, he said, was legislation which dropped assessments of inventories to 40 per cent and took $8,000,000 off the county's tax base.

Next came the 10-year exemptions granted to new industries, followed by legislation exempting expansion of existing industries.

Mr. Nicholson said the latest was the bill to grant exemptions to the aged. This took about $158,000 off the books last year and may reach $2½ million this year.

Senator See said he and the Delegation will discuss the exemption legislation.

Missing Driver In Buffalo, N.Y.

John Gary Dawson, 23, of 474 Baltimore Avenue, who has been missing with a local food market truck and $350 since last Saturday, has been located in Buffalo, N.Y., police said yesterday.

Detective Lieutenant James E. Van said a teletype has been sent to authorities of Buffalo asking them to apprehend the local man.

Dawson was reported missing by J. Orville Fier, owned of Perrin's Food Market, 501 Baltimore Avenue, who told police the young man drove a truck for the market.

Retail Liquor Dealers Want Longer Hours

Charge Clubs Violating Law

Allegany County Licensed Beverage Association asked the Allegany County Delegation last night to amend the county liquor law to extend hours of sale from midnight to 1 a.m. except Saturday, and to continue the ban of sales on Sunday.

They specifically charged that competition from out of state operators on weekdays and from local clubs on Sunday makes it difficult to operate business profitably and economically.

John M. Robb, attorney for the Allegany County Licensed Beverage Association, presented the retail beer and liquor dealers' problems at a formal hearing before the county's legislators, all of whom were present. About 15 members of the association attended and each member identified himself.

Mr Robb said the licensed operators request the delegation to amend the county liquor laws to provide for sales until 1 a.m. on weekdays, except Saturday, with an hour to clear tables. He explained that present law requires closing at midnight with an hour to clear tables.

Says Law Inconsistent

The law is inconsistent, Mr. Robb said, because an hour clean-up time is allowed every night except Saturday, when the law specifically says that sales must end at midnight and in another section it says that tables must be clear by 11:45 p.m.

In a three-page report, presented and read by Casper Taylor Jr. for the legislative committee of the association, the problem is set forth in considerable detail.

Mr. Taylor explained that his group represents the retail liquor business and requests two specific changes in the law. These would be a change in hours of operation, or 1 a.m. closing on weekdays, and midnight closing on Saturday; and a minimum Fair Trade Law to protect package stores.

On the Fair Trade law, he stated that such a bill is being prepared on a state-wide level and he urged the local delegation to support it.

Cites Out-State Competition

Mr. Taylor and others who spoke after him cited the peculiar geographical location of Cumberland and Allegany County, with West Virginia on the south and Pennsylvania on the north. In both these areas, beer and alcoholic beverages are obtainable after bars close here, and each night hundreds of people drive either northward or southward to spend an additional hour or two drinking and being entertained. The county and the state, they emphasized, lose considerable tax revenue, and local business people lose the income.

An additional hour of operation would mean more employment adding to the county's payroll, and would mean greater tax revenue here, the liquor dealers contend.

Peter Lukas, who manages Clarysville Inn, cited the safety factor involved in the early closing hour here. He said that on Friday and Saturday night when dances are held at Clarysville, some 200 to 300 cars leave the parking lot. A check on several occasions shows that 60 per cent or more of them are driving to nearby taverns and establishments in West Virginia and Pennsylvania, for another hour.

Mr. Lukas said that in the time he has been here, he has noted that a great many of the auto accidents where people have been injured or killed have involved people going to or from West Virginia or Pennsylvania night spots.

Opposed To Sunday Sales

Speaking for the package stores, the report cites:

"Clubs sell on Sunday, the Sabbath Day. We are against this. There should be no liquor sold on Sunday in any county. Clubs can hide much of this activity, which is unfair to us, since the law governing us forces us to maintain glass openings making our bars visible from the street at all times.

In many instances club managers and trustees make their livelihood from business that does not even have to pay income tax. Many clubs further violate this tax exemption by openly soliciting the business of the general public. We pay income tax on top of more taxes than exist in any other retail or manufacturing business in the nation.

Weekend Snow Is Expected

Cold Weather To Continue

Cold weather is forecast today — which is nothing unusual.

Cloudy and cold weather with temperatures from 15 to 20 degrees above zero is promised in Western Maryland. And there is a chance of snow today or tomorrow.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer here, said last night that a high pressure area from the north was pushing snow in this direction, although the snow may not reach this far.

He said the official low temperature yesterday was four degrees above zero, and it was the second day in a row the temperature dipped to the four-degree mark.

The official high yesterday was 26 and a similar reading was "hanging on" last night. Unofficially the temperature in downtown Cumberland last night hovered around the 30-degree mark. During the afternoon the temperature reached the freezing mark.

It was clear and cold in Garrett County last night. During the afternoon the mercury reached 28, according to one report, which indicated that there was no snow falling.

Oakland reported the temperature dipped to two degrees below zero during the night yesterday. Accident had six above; Town Hill, zero; LaVale, three, and Cumberland, four.

Southern Maryland and the lower Eastern Shore shivered under a layer of up to eight inches of snow Friday, while the rest of the state braced itself for a sample of the same during the weekend.

The Weather Bureau forecast cloudy and cold for Saturday with snow flurries in the extreme west. Snow will continue in the west Sunday and is likely in the rest of the state, the bureau said.

Any snow the state gets during the weekend is due out of the west, unlike the surprise storm which swept up the Atlantic coast Thursday night and hit only the southern and eastern areas.

J. T. Mason's Cow Turns Out To Be Winner Too

November was good to John T. Mason of Cresaptown in several ways.

He was elected to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners on November 4, one of four Democrats to upset tradition in this county. The monthly report of Potomac Valley Herd Improvement Association now shows that he had the top butterfat producer in the association for November.

No. 52, one of Mr. Mason's grade Holsteins, had 93 pounds of butterfat in 1,930 pounds of November milk. His cows also placed fourth and seventh among the association's top ten producers for the month. No other owner had more than one cow on the honor roll.

Other owners on the list were Samuel L. Pinto, RFD 1, Ridgeley; Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa.; Fred C. Siple, Fort Ashby, W. Va.; Chelsie A. Liller, Cresaptown; William A. Moore, Mt. Savage; Harry J. Barton, Pinto, and Carl Howsare, Bedford Valley, Pa.

During November 990 cows were on test. Their average production was 643 pounds of milk, 26.7 pounds of butterfat, 4.15 per cent butterfat.

The high herd for the month of November was that of Mr. Siple. His 17 cows averaged 853 pounds of milk, 38.1 pounds of butterfat and 4.46 per cent butterfat.

Eight of the ten top producers were Holsteins. One Ayrshire and one Guernsey also were listed.

Ready For The Rush

Mrs. Winona Stimler adds the finishing touches to the Salvation Army's wrapping booth, completed yesterday in the Post Office lobby. Mrs. Stimler, who has operated the wrapping booth for several years, will be on duty from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day to gift-wrap items for Christmas mailing. The Salvation Army also maintains a booth at the Station A Post Office in South Cumberland, under management of Mrs. Mary Strawderman.

Taylor To Face Federal Jury In Theft Of Autos

James Douglas Taylor, 24, of Frostburg, was arraigned here yesterday before U.S. Commissioner James A. Avirett on charges of the theft of a motor vehicle in interstate commerce.

He was taken to Allegany County Jail in default of $1,000 bond and will await the arrival of a U.S. marshal from Baltimore for action of a federal grand jury.

The charges were brought against Taylor by the local FBI agent who appeared at the arraignment, along with City Police Detective Lieutenant James E. Van.

In a statement to Van, the Frostburg man admitted stealing the two cars during the past couple of days. They belong to Ernie Schramm of 620 Greene Street, city, and Lester C. String, of Baltimore.

Police said Taylor admitted taking Mr. Schramm's car on Wednesday and wrecked it near Moorefield, W.Va. While hitchiking a ride in that vicinity, Taylor was picked up by Mr. String, who said the hitchhiker told him he had a gun and wanted String's car.

After giving him the car, Mr. String notified police of West Virginia, who gave a description of the car to Maryland State Police.

Delegates Meet With Judge

State Senator Charles M. See and the six members of the County Delegation to the House of Delegates met for about an hour yesterday afternoon with Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in the latter's office at the Court House.

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, chairman of the delegation, said that the discussions involved certain changes in the operations of the court. Judge Harris said it was an off-the-record meeting and any changes agreed upon will be the subject for subsequent legislation in Annapolis.

Judge Harris has been Allegany County's lone Circuit Court judge since the retirement of Judge George Henderson on March 17.

PPG Pact Negotiations Will Resume

Conciliator Calls Meeting Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Union and management representatives will resume negotiations Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Cincinnati in efforts to end a 68-day glassworkers' strike at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plants across the nation.

The announcement was made here Friday by Federal Mediator Ayward J. Montoney, who will participate in the sessions. Montoney was an observer at previous meetings held in Miami, Fla., Cleveland and Louisville.

The strike began Oct. 6 at PPG and spread to the Libbey-Owen-Ford Co. the next day. The LOF strike ended late that same month. On Oct. 30, PPG officials and representatives of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union of North America met in Louisville, but efforts to negotiate a new contract ended in a deadlock. No talks have been held since then.

PPG employs about 13,000 in 11 plants throughout the United States.

Principal stumbling block to a contract settlement is the reclassification of workers' duties.

Church Notices For Christmas Due Tuesday

All church news concerning services or programs on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day must be in the office of the Times-News not later than 1 p. m. Tuesday, December 16 in order to assure publication.

So as to avoid confusion news items and church notices should be marked "Christmas Services."

There is no change in deadline for church notices of Sunday, December 21. To be included on the regular Saturday page, they must be in the Times-News office no later than 11 p. m. Thursday, December 18.

Higher Burial Fee Is Sought

Representatives of county funeral directors last night asked the Allegany County Delegation for legislation to increase the burial allowances for the indigent to $250.

John J. Hafer, spokesman for the group, said a local bill is being prepared and will be submitted to the Delegation.

Under current laws, Delegate Estel C. Kelley, said, blind people get a $150 burial allowance and welfare people $100.

The bill granting the larger sum to blind people passed, Senator Charles M. See said, while a bill for others died in the Assembly.

Mr. Hafer pointed out that according to state law the State Anatomical Board should be called when an indigent person or one on relief dies, and has the right to claim the body.

Only about six persons were buried by the county last year, it was reported.

The funeral directors said the present allowances do not cover costs.

Coal Weight Complaints To Be Checked

State's Attorney James S. Getty said yesterday that his office will prosecute each case of short coal weight brought to its attention.

A number of complaints have been received, he said, involving shortages of weight in coal deliveries.

The latest report was received yesterday from a Cumberland citizen who told police he did not believe he got a full ton of coal.

Mr. Getty said the man failed to get a city weigh bill and placed the load in a shed with other coal, so it was impossible to make an accurate check.

He added the trucker will be questioned in connection with the sale made without a city weigh bill.

Coal sold in the City of Cumberland, he said, must be weighed on the city scales and the law requires that a truck used to haul coal be weighed empty 24 hours before.

Coal sold to industrial plants are not required to use the city scales.

Officials said County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya has called a number of haulers into the office in connection with weight complaints.

Wilkinson Gets Suspended Term

A 21-year-old local man brought back here to face a breaking and entering charge yesterday pleaded guilty before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris to a charge of petty larceny.

Leroy Edward Wilkinson, Hagerstown and San Francisco, received a suspended sentence of one year in the House of Correction after Judge Harris accepted the plea on a lesser charge.

Wilkinson was brought back here recently after he completed a term in the Reformatory for Males.

The charge here resulted from the theft of a small amount of cash and some clothing from a home on Williams Road in June 1956.

Following the hearing, he was returned to the Allegany County Jail, which is holding him on Bedford County, Pa., warrants charging forgery and burglary.

Board Questions Magistrate's Expenses

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday questioned two items in the bill submitted by Carl W. Shaffer, Westernport trial magistrate.

The commissioners said they could not understand why Mr. Shaffer was requesting $7.59 for prisoners' food. If they were county prisoners they should have been in the County Jail, the commissioners said. If they were town prisoners, the Town of Westernport should be responsible.

There also was a $5 item for cleaning the court room which the commissioners would like explained.

Board Denies Rish Company Use Permit

LaVale Group Files Decision

The LaVale Zoning Board has just filed its first opinion, denying an application for a use and occupancy permit in Election District 29.

Board members C. A. Lancaster and Leslie J. Clark this week filed an opinion rejecting the application of the Rish Equipment Company of Bluefield, W. Va., for a use and occupancy permit for the sale and service of heavy duty construction equipment at 926 National Highway in LaVale.

This property is owned by Harry E. Lucas and Dorothy E. Lucas, his wife, who are conducting a trucking, automobile sales and repair business at the location. They were issued a certificate of non-conforming use by the LaVale Zoning Board September 3.

Business Differs

In reaching its decision the board found that the business proposed by the Rish Equipment Company is a different type of business from that now being conducted on the premises by Mr. Lucas. The zoning regulations for LaVale stipulate that no non-conforming building, structure or use may be changed to another non-conforming use.

The zoning board emphasized in its decision that it cannot take into consideration whether the granting or refusal of this permit will increase or decrease employment in the Cumberland area.

"The purpose of zoning is to devote general areas or districts to selected uses and thereby promote the orderly development of the community," they write.

"The essence of zoing is territorial division according to the character of the land and the buildings, their suitability for particular uses and uniformity within the zone. Non-conforming uses such as Mr. Lucas' business are tolerated under general zoning law with the look to their ultimate elimination, so that there will be conformity with the other uses permitted in the area."

In its opinion, the LaVale Zoning Board states that the Rish Company proposed to use the location for the sale and service of heavy duty construction equipment, storage of repair parts to service construction equipment in the Cumberland area and to stock and sell repair parts.

The company also proposed to display and sell used and reconstructed heavy duty construction equipment on the premises. Equipment to be sold would have consisted of trailers, front loaders, graders, compressors, pumps, bulldozers, tractors, air hammers, payloaders, rollers and truck cranes and other miscellaneous equipment.

$500,000 Business

The Rish firm expected to do an annual volume of $500,000 to $700,000 in business at this location, mostly in the sale of parts. The maximum weight of equipment to be handled is approximately 52,000 pounds. The zoning board figured that the facilities at the present time are not capable of the repair of heavy duty construction equipment.

A public hearing on the Rish application was held at the LaVale Fire Hall on October 31. At that time John J. Rowan also was a member of the zoning board. He resigned December 1, the day before assuming the presidency of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. No successor to him has been named by the county commissioners, who hold the appointing power.

Ten individuals appeared at the October 31 hearing to protest the issuance of the permit. They included Bert J. Mason, Samuel Artz, Arnold Arnone, Raymond Ogden, R. B. MacBeth, Margaret Horning, Hays Chambers, Alfred Benna, Ronald Palmer and S. F. Carl.

The business at 926 National Highway is in a Commercial A zone, which is a zone set up for retail businesses, trades, services and professions supplying the need for local residential communities.

Pact Report Meetings Set In Covington

Decline Comment On Luke Action

COVINGTON, Va. (AP) — The officers of a paperworkers union local at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. here say they will hold meetings in the near future to decide what to do about a new contract with the company.

They declined comment on the action of the local at Luke, Md., in voting to accept the firm's latest contract offer. But they issued a statement saying the local's committee "as always will take their instructions from the majority of Local 675 (of the United Papermakers Union) to determine what course of action to take in view of Luke's Local 676 vote to ratify the company's offer.

"Special meetings will be set in the near future so the membership can decide this question."

Workers at the plant here, in Luke and in Williamsburg, Pa., have stayed on the job under provisions of the old contract, which expired Nov. 17. Negotiations on a new pact broke off last Friday and the union said the company's latest offer would be submitted to the employes.

The offer includes a general wage increase of 4-11 cents an hour, three weeks vacation after 10 years and an improved insurance plan.

Construction Worker Killed In Car Crash

A construction supervisor on a local building project was killed early yesterday morning when his car crashed off Route 40 just west of Red Hill.

The victim was Joseph F. Scholl, 47, of 203 Vine Street, West Newton, Pa. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital shortly after the accident that occurred at 12:45 a. m.

A passenger in the car, Eva Louise Shanholtz, 43, of Bedford Road, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital and is reported in fair condition, according to Trooper Carlton Lewis who investigated.

Trooper Lewis said the woman suffered a four-inch laceration of the forehead, laceration of the scalp, multiple cuts and abrasions of both legs and undetermined back injuries.

Hospital ataches said last night results of the examination were not completed.

The trooper said Scholl was driving east on the highway at an apparent high rate of speed. The 1958 model auto he was operating went off the south side of the road, into a drainage ditch, following it for 75 yards.

The car then jumped a concrete culvert, throwing Scholl out. The woman stayed in the auto which continued another 30 yards along the ditch before coming to a stop against an embankment.

Scholl received a fractured skull when he was thrown from the vehicle, the officer said.

Scholl was construction superintendent on the remodeling and expansion of the G. C. Murphy Company building here. He had been an employe of the Murphy firm since 1946.

He was born August 11, 1911, in West Newton. He is survived by his parents, Jasper T. and Edith (Hoy) Scholl of West Newton; his widow, Mrs. Eleanor (Brown) Scholl, and a son, Jack Scholl, all of West Newton.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church at West Newton.

The body is at the Culler Funeral Home in West Newton. Services will be held there Monday afternoon and interment will be in West Newton Cemetery.

County Board Asks Study Of Exemption Laws

Cites Lowering Of Assessable Base

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners last night asked the Allegany County Delegation to study present tax exemption laws in the light of this county's decreasing tax base.

Spokesman for the board was Leslie J. Clark, attorney, who first urged that the county commissioners be advised on all legislation affecting the county, and particularly bills which involve money.

Mr. Clark said the county faces a decreasing tax base and increases in costs and that the board wants to keep the tax rate at its present level.

As Part 1 of the county legislative program, he suggested that the present local law requiring that all contracts and purchases exceeding $1,000 must be advertised should be amended, so if there is only one bid or none, the board can award a contract to a responsible party.

Would Solve Problem

Mr. Clark said legislation should also provide for the awarding of professional work, where bidding is not considered ethical.

Legislation or a declaratory decree from the courts, he said, are the only solutions to the situation facing the county in connection with the Georges Creek sewage survey ordered by the State Board of Health.

The board, through Mr. Clark, said the exemptions for new industries, exemptions on expansion of existing industries and the tax exemption to property owners who are over 65 and have less than $100 a month income should be studied.

He said the board believes the law on exemptions for the aged is being abused and that the amount of exemption should be restricted.

To Combine Jobs

On the county's Classified Service bill, the board pointed out that a job cannot be abolished.

Mr. Clark said the board feels it should be able to abolish a job for economic reasons, or to consolidate jobs.

He said the board is not interested in political maneuvering, but that present law freezes a person in his job for life.

The board, Mr. Clark said, must consolidate some jobs to save money.

Reviews Laws

Mr. Clark asked Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments, for a talk on the county's assessable base.

The county, he said, is being hard ridden by exemption laws and should have a broadening, not a narrowing tax base, when the burden is so heavy.

He said the first step was legislation exempting fraternal and similar organizations from taxes.

The next, he said, was legislation which dropped assessments of inventories to 40 per cent and took $8,000,000 off the county's tax base.

Next came the 10-year exemptions granted to new industries, followed by legislation exempting expansion of existing industries.

Mr. Nicholson said the latest was the bill to grant exemptions to the aged. This took about $158,000 off the books last year and may reach $2½ million this year.

Senator See said he and the Delegation will discuss the exemption legislation.

Missing Driver In Buffalo, N.Y.

John Gary Dawson, 23, of 474 Baltimore Avenue, who has been missing with a local food market truck and $350 since last Saturday, has been located in Buffalo, N.Y., police said yesterday.

Detective Lieutenant James E. Van said a teletype has been sent to authorities of Buffalo asking them to apprehend the local man.

Dawson was reported missing by J. Orville Fier, owned of Perrin's Food Market, 501 Baltimore Avenue, who told police the young man drove a truck for the market.
